JURISDICTION AND VENUE	3
SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT	4
FACTUAL BACKGROUND.....	10
ARGUMENT	20
I. THE COURT HAS SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION.....	20
II. THE AUTOMATIC STAY PROHIBITS PROSECUTION OF DEBTOR TALC CLAIMS AGAINST THE PROTECTED PARTIES	22
A. Actions Seeking to Hold Protected Parties Liable for Debtor Talc Claims Are Stayed Pursuant to Section 362(a)(1)	22
B. Insurance Policies Are Estate Assets and Therefore Suits That Would Deplete Those Policies Are Automatically Stayed.....	25
C. Actions Seeking to Hold Protected Parties Liable for the Debtor Talc Claims Based on “Derivative Liability” Are Property of the Debtor’s Estate and Automatically Stayed	27
D. The Defendants’ Fraudulent Transfer Claims Are Estate Property	43
III. THE COURT SHOULD EXERCISE ITS AUTHORITY UNDER SECTION 105(A) TO ENJOIN THE CONTINUATION OR COMMENCEMENT OF THE DEBTOR TALC CLAIMS AGAINST THE PROTECTED PARTIES	44
A. The Court Has Authority to Enjoin the Pursuit of Debtor Talc Claims Against the Protected Parties	44
B. The Preliminary Injunction Factors All Support Enjoining the Pursuit of Debtor Talc Claims Against the Protected Parties.....	47
1. The Debtor’s Successful Reorganization Is Likely	48
2. Failure to Enjoin Litigation of Debtor Talc Claims Would Irreparably Harm the Debtor.....	51
3. The Irreparable Harm that the Debtor Would Suffer in the Absence of an Injunction Substantially Outweighs Any Prejudice to the Defendants	56
4. Injunctive Relief Will Further the Public Interest by Ensuring the Debtor’s Successful Reorganization and Equitable Treatment of Defendants	59
IV. THE COURT SHOULD GRANT A TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER TO EFFECTUATE THE RELIEF SOUGHT BY THE DEBTOR PENDING A FINAL HEARING.....	61
CONCLUSION.....	64

NATURE OF PROCEEDING

Pursuant to Rules 7001(7), 7001(9) and 7065 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the “Bankruptcy Rules”) Plaintiff LTL Management LLC, a North Carolina limited liability company and the debtor in the above-captioned chapter 11 case (“LTL” or the “Debtor”), seeks a declaration that section 362(a) of the Bankruptcy Code prohibits the commencement or continuation of certain actions against the Protected Parties (as defined below) while the Debtor’s chapter 11 case (the “Chapter 11 Case”) remains pending. The Debtor also requests a preliminary injunction under section 105(a) of the Bankruptcy Code. The injunction will enjoin the prosecution of actions outside of the Chapter 11 Case on account of the same talc claims that exist against the Debtor in the Chapter 11 Case.

The defendants in this adversary proceeding (collectively, the “Defendants”) sought to be enjoined are all named plaintiffs in the talc-related lawsuits against the Debtor or for which the Debtor is responsible or alleged responsible listed on Appendix A to the Complaint, as well as John and Jane Does 1-1000.¹ The Defendants would be enjoined from prosecuting actions outside of the Chapter 11 Case seeking to hold the following entities liable for talc claims against the Debtor in the Chapter 11 Case: (i) affiliates of the Debtor; (ii) third party retailers or transaction parties; and (iii) insurers of the Debtor, in each case as a result of the Debtor’s indemnification or alleged indemnification of such entities for talc claims against the Debtor, and for the several other reasons set forth in this Motion. More specifically, the entities that the Defendants would be enjoined from pursuing (collectively, the “Protected Parties”) are:²

- a) former Johnson & Johnson Consumer Inc. (“Old JJCI”), an entity that no longer exists and whose talc-related liability was allocated to the Debtor;
- b) the Debtor’s non-debtor affiliates set forth on Appendix B to the Complaint (the “Non-Debtor Affiliates”) including, without limitation, Johnson & Johnson Consumer Inc., a New Jersey company (“New JJCI”);
- c) third party retailers who sold Old JJCI’s talc-containing products (the “Retailers”) and other third parties whom the Debtor has indemnified contractually (the “Indemnified Parties”), on Appendix B to the Complaint; and
- d) insurance entities set forth on Appendix B to the Complaint, who have issued insurance policies to which the Debtor has access for coverage for talc-related liabilities (the “Insurers”).

The Debtor seeks a declaration that section 362(a) of the Bankruptcy Code prohibits the commencement or continuation of any action seeking to hold a Protected Party liable on account of any “Debtor Talc Claim” while the Chapter 11 Case remains pending. “Debtor Talc Claims” means, collectively, any talc-related claim against the Debtor, including all claims relating in any way to talc or talc-containing materials that formerly were asserted against (or that could have been asserted against) Old JJCI³ on any theory of liability (whether direct, derivative, joint and several, successor liability, vicarious liability, fraudulent or voidable transfer or conveyance, alter ego or otherwise).

² The Protected Parties are listed on Appendix B to the Complaint. The Debtor reserves the right to seek to supplement, amend or otherwise modify the list of Protected Parties, including, in particular, to request that additional parties be included as Protected Parties.

³ For the avoidance of doubt, Debtor Talc Claims include all talc personal injury claims and other talc-related claims allocated to the Debtor from Old JJCI in the documents implementing the 2021 Corporate

The Defendants would be enjoined from prosecuting any such action against the Protected Parties on account of any Debtor Talc Claim. The Debtor also seeks a temporary restraining order, entered on limited notice, to immediately effectuate the requested declaratory or injunctive relief pending a final hearing on this Motion.

Along with this Motion, the Debtor has filed the Complaint for Declaratory and Injunctive Relief (I) Declaring That the Automatic Stay Applies to Certain Actions Against Non-Debtors or (II) Preliminary Enjoining Such Actions and (III) Granting a Temporary Restraining Order Pending a Final Hearing (the “Complaint”) that initiated this adversary proceeding. In support of this Motion, the Debtor incorporates: (a) the Supplemental Declaration of John K. Kim in Support of Debtor’s Complaint for Declaratory and Injunctive Relief and Related Motions (the “Supplemental Kim Declaration”), filed contemporaneously herewith; and (b) the Declaration of John K. Kim in Support of First Day Pleadings [Dkt. 5] (the “First Day Declaration”), filed in the Chapter 11 Case, and further states as follows:

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

This Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this adversary proceeding and this Motion pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334. This matter is a core proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2). Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 7008, the Debtor consents to the entry of final orders or a final judgment by this Court in this adversary proceeding. Venue is proper in this District pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1409.

Restructuring (as defined herein). The Debtor Talc Claims do not include talc-related claims for which the exclusive remedy is provided under workers’ compensation statutes and similar laws.

SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT

The Debtor commenced the Chapter 11 Case to equitably and permanently resolve all current and future talc-related claims against it through the consummation of a plan of reorganization that includes the establishment of a trust. The relief sought by this adversary proceeding is critical to the Debtor's ability to achieve that purpose. Without the requested declaration or injunction, claimants would be permitted to (and in fact, appear to be eager to) litigate, in other forums, the exact same talc claims that are being asserted against the Debtor in the Chapter 11 Case.

The Debtor became responsible for all liability arising from the Debtor Talc Claims as a result of an internal corporate restructuring that was completed on October 12, 2021 (the "2021 Corporate Restructuring"). No Protected Party was allocated or assumed liability for any Debtor Talc Claims as part of the 2021 Corporate Restructuring. Following the 2021 Corporate Restructuring and the commencement of the Chapter 11 Case, claimants immediately challenged the application of the automatic stay and threatened to pursue their talc claims against the Protected Parties.

All Debtor Talc Claims asserted against the Protected Parties allegedly arose from the manufacture and/or sale of talc-containing products by Old JJCI or J&J ("Johnson & Johnson").⁴ First Day Decl. ¶ 31-32. As discussed in the First Day Declaration, in 1979 Old JJCI assumed all of J&J's liabilities associated with baby products, including Johnson's Baby Powder. Id. ¶ 10. Now, the Debtor is responsible for all of these potential talc-related liabilities. Id. ¶ 24. Accordingly, all such claims are either claims against the Debtor or claims that are tantamount to claims against the Debtor. Permitting the Defendants to continue or commence the Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties while the Debtor simultaneously works to reorganize by resolving the same claims in its Chapter 11 Case pursuant to the Bankruptcy Code would (a) defeat the purpose of the Debtor's bankruptcy case, (b) result in irreparable harm to the Debtor's estate, (c) undermine and circumvent the purposes and spirit of the automatic stay and (d) divert the Debtor from its reorganization efforts.

Section 362(a) Automatically Stays Prosecution of the Debtor Talc Claims

The Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties are automatically stayed under section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code. This is because either the Protected Parties share such an identity of interest with the Debtor that the Debtor is, in effect, the real-party defendant, or the claims are property of the Debtor's estate. See Aldrich Pump LLC v. Those Parties to Actions Listed on Appendix A to Complaint (In re Aldrich Pump LLC), 2021 WL 3729335, at *30-32 (Bankr. W.D.N.C. Aug. 23, 2021); DBMP LLC v. Those Parties Listed on Appendix A to Complaint (In re DBMP LLC), 2021 WL 3552350, at *27-28 (Bankr. W.D.N.C. Aug. 11, 2021). In addition, the commencement or continuation of the Debtor Talc Claims against Old JJCI or J&J is for the purpose of liquidating and recovering claims against the Debtor. Thus, such an action is expressly enjoined by section 362(a)(1) because it constitutes an "action or proceeding against the debtor" to recover a prepetition claim. Moreover, actions that seek to recover against the Insurers are subject to the automatic stay under section 362(a)(3) because the Debtor's right to coverage under policies issued by the Insurers is property of the estate that would be depleted. Furthermore, allowing Debtor Talc Claims against J&J would reduce insurance proceeds available to the Debtor because J&J and the Debtor are covered by the same policies for such claims.

The Court Has Authority to Enjoin the Debtor Talc Claims Under Section 105(a)

Courts consistently have exercised their injunctive powers under section 105(a) of the Bankruptcy Code to enjoin claimants from continuing or commencing actions against non-debtor affiliates and other third parties in mass-tort bankruptcies. See In re Purdue Pharma L.P., No. 19-23689, Adv. No. 19-08289 [Adv. Dkt. 291] (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. Sept. 21, 2021). Indeed, to the Debtor's knowledge, no court has declined to enter such an injunction. This includes bankruptcy courts in this District, most recently in the Aldrich Pump and DBMP proceedings. See Aldrich Pump, 2021 WL 3729335; DBMP, 2021 WL 3552350.

Courts considering the propriety of an injunction under section 105(a) often apply the traditional four-pronged test for injunctions, as tailored to the unique circumstances of bankruptcy. In bankruptcy, these four elements are: (a) the debtor's reasonable likelihood of a successful reorganization; (b) the imminent risk of irreparable harm to the debtor's estate in the absence of an injunction; (c) the balance of harms between the debtor and its creditors and (d) whether the public interest weighs in favor of an injunction. Each element is satisfied here.

The Debtor's Successful Reorganization Is Likely

The Debtor's prospects for a successful reorganization are strong. The Debtor filed bankruptcy in good faith to pursue an equitable resolution of tens of thousands of talc claims. The Debtor has sufficient resources to fund the costs of the Chapter 11 Case and fund a substantial trust with sufficient resources to equitably and finally resolve their talc liabilities. The Debtor also is committed to engaging with claimant representatives and key stakeholders to consensually resolve the Chapter 11 Case.

Enjoining the Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties is fully consistent with, and necessary for the Debtor to pursue, the ultimate objective of a successful reorganization: a complete, permanent and equitable resolution of all current and future Debtor Talc Claims.

The Debtor Will Be Irreparably Harmed Absent Injunctive Relief

Without the requested injunction, the Debtor's reorganizational efforts would be irreparably harmed and the Debtor would be deprived of the "breathing spell" afforded by the automatic stay.⁵ In fact, due to the assumption of J&J's talc liabilities and contractual and common-law indemnification obligations, the prosecution of Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties, particularly J&J and New JJCI, would amount to continued prosecution of those claims against the Debtor in the tort system. In addition, such litigation against J&J would deplete the Debtor's available insurance coverage for the Debtor Talc Claims.

Furthermore, there is a risk that the resolution of claims and issues in the litigation of Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties could bind the Debtor under the doctrines of collateral estoppel and res judicata. Litigation of the Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties also creates a substantial risk that talc claimants will use statements, testimony and other evidence generated in those proceedings to try to establish the Debtor's liability for talc-related claims. To avoid these types of risks, the Debtor would be compelled to actively participate in litigation of the Debtor Talc Claims in the tort system, thereby undermining the automatic stay and diverting the attention of key personnel who would otherwise be assisting the Debtor in achieving its restructuring goals from the reorganization process.

⁵ See H.R. Rep. No. 95-595, 95th Cong. 1st Sess. 340-342 (1977); S. Rep. No. 989, 95th Cong., 2d Sess. 54-55 (1978), reprinted in 1978 U.S.C.C.A.N. 5787, 5840-41 ("The automatic stay is one of the fundamental debtor protections provided by the bankruptcy laws. It gives the debtor a breathing spell from his creditors . . . [and] permits the debtor to attempt a repayment or reorganization plan . . ."); see also In re Bestwall LLC, 606 B.R. 243, 256 (Bankr. W.D.N.C. 2019) (LTB) ("[T]he litigation of Bestwall Asbestos Claims could force the Debtor to defend its interest in such litigation, thereby defeating the 'breathing spell' intended by the automatic stay.").

The Balance of Harms Weighs in Favor of a Preliminary Injunction

The balance of the harms also weighs heavily in favor of an injunction. As explained, continued prosecution of the Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties would cause irreparable harm to the Debtor and its estate by, among other means, undermining the very goal of the Chapter 11 Case and requiring the Debtor to actively participate in litigation pending throughout the country while simultaneously seeking to resolve the same claims before this Court. The Debtor, however, is not the only party that would be harmed. Failure to issue an injunction may prejudice certain Defendants by leading to different recoveries among similarly situated claimants depending on whether they recover through the tort system or through a future, court-approved trust. See In re Federal-Mogul Glob., Inc., 684 F.3d 355, 362 (3d Cir. 2012) (noting that bankruptcy “trusts appear to have fulfilled Congress’s expectation that they would serve the interests of both current and future asbestos claimants and corporations saddled with asbestos liability”); In re Purdue Pharma L.P., 619 B.R. 38, 45 (S.D.N.Y. 2020) (noting that the bankruptcy court granted a preliminary injunction in part because “the broad injunction was necessary to preserve ‘any reasonable prospect of success’ for a future reorganization plan,” which was premised on a settlement with claimants and establishment of a trust).

Any harm that issuing an injunction might cause the Defendants is substantially less. Claimants may have already received, or could receive, compensation from other sources during the pendency of the Chapter 11 Case. Further, as noted, a trust that ultimately is established by a confirmed plan of reorganization in the Chapter 11 Case would allow for more efficient recoveries for the Defendants than generally are possible in the tort system.

Nor can the Defendants demonstrate any harm based on the speculation that an injunction will create risk for the ultimate payment for their claims. In total, the Debtor’s value is approximately $373.1 million, not taking into account insurance rights as well as the funding agreement the Debtor has with New JJCI and J&J (discussed below). First Day Decl. ¶ 26. Under the funding agreement, New JJCI and J&J are contractually obligated to, among other things: (a) fund, on a joint and several basis, up to the full value of New JJCI, the costs of the Chapter 11 Case, to the extent that any cash distributions from the Debtor's operating subsidiary, Royalty A&M LLC ("Royalty A&M"), are insufficient; and (b) provide funding, up to the full value of New JJCI, for a trust or trusts in the full amount required by a confirmed plan of reorganization, to the extent that cash distributions from Royalty A&M and the Debtor's other assets are insufficient to pay such amounts. Id. ¶ 27. In either case, the funding agreement imposes no repayment obligation on the Debtor; it is not a loan. Id. In addition, J&J and New JJCI have committed to fund an aggregate amount of $2 billion into a "qualified settlement fund" for the payment of current and future talc-related claims asserted against or related to the Debtor. Id. ¶ 28.

Public Interest Supports a Preliminary Injunction

Finally, the public interest weighs in favor of an injunction. There is a strong public interest in a successful chapter 11 reorganization, and injunctive relief is critical to the Debtor's reorganization efforts. It also is in the public interest to promote justice in the court system. In the Debtor's case, this can only be achieved by resolving all Debtor Talc Claims in an equitable manner in one forum. This result is not possible if piecemeal litigation of the Debtor Talc Claims in the tort system is allowed to circumvent the bankruptcy process. In addition to avoiding piecemeal litigation, the injunction would amplify the collective process endemic to the negotiation of a successful plan of reorganization, which presents a unique opportunity to finally resolve thousands of talc-related claims. For these reasons, a successful reorganization under chapter 11 — and an injunction that makes such reorganization possible — serves the public interest by allowing for the resolution of thousands of claims in a uniform and equitable manner.

A Temporary Restraining Order Is Necessary to Effectuate Immediate Relief

To avoid the immediate and irreversible harm that would occur absent the requested injunction, the Debtor requests that the Court issue a temporary restraining order on limited notice pending a final hearing on the merits. Almost immediately after the Petition Date, counsel for numerous plaintiffs stated their intent to assert Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties, including J&J, Old JJCI and Retailers. Permitting plaintiffs to pursue the Protected Parties threatens to harm the Debtor's interests by fixing claims against the estate or otherwise binding the Debtor with respect to talc claims against it. Without immediate injunctive relief, the Debtor will be compelled to pull key estate resources away from its reorganization efforts to focus on that ongoing litigation, hampering the Debtor's reorganization from the outset.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

On October 14, 2021 (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor commenced the Chapter 11 Case by filing a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. The Debtor is continuing in possession of its property and is managing its business, as a debtor in possession, pursuant to sections 1107(a) and 1108 of the Bankruptcy Code.

Corporate History

On October 12, 2021, Old JJCI implemented the 2021 Corporate Restructuring as described below. First Day Decl. ¶ 16. As a result of that restructuring, Old JJCI ceased to exist and two new entities were created: (a) the Debtor, which was initially formed as a Texas limited liability company and then converted into a North Carolina limited liability company; and (b) a second entity, which was initially formed as a Texas limited liability company and then merged into a New Jersey corporation that was its direct parent (as well as the direct parent of the Debtor), whereupon this entity changed its name to “Johnson & Johnson Consumer Inc.” (“New JJCI”). Id.

New JJCI manufactures and sells a broad range of products used in the baby care, beauty, oral care, wound care and women’s health-care fields, as well as over-the-counter pharmaceutical products. Id. ¶ 19. The Debtor’s ultimate parent company, J&J, is a holding company that through its operating subsidiaries conducts business in virtually all countries in the world, focused primarily on products related to human health and well-being. Id.

The 2021 Corporate Restructuring

Old JJCI and its affiliates have engaged in multiple restructurings through the years to achieve business and operational objectives. Id. ¶ 20. The 2021 Corporate Restructuring was implemented to enable the Debtor to fully resolve talc-related claims through a chapter 11 reorganization without subjecting the entire Old JJCI enterprise to a bankruptcy proceeding. Id. ¶ 21.

As a result of the 2021 Corporate Restructuring, which is described in greater detail in the First Day Declaration:

- a. Old JJCI ceased to exist;
- b. The Debtor, as well as New JJCI, were formed;
- c. The Debtor received certain of Old JJCI’s assets, as set forth below, and became solely responsible for certain of its liabilities, including Old JJCI’s liabilities arising from talc-related claims against it (other than claims for which the exclusive remedy is provided under a workers’ compensation statute or similar laws);
- d. New JJCI was allocated all other assets of Old JJCI and became solely responsible for all other liabilities of Old JJCI;

- e. A funding agreement (the “Funding Agreement”) was established between New JJCI, J&J and the Debtor for the purpose of ensuring that the Debtor has at least the same, if not greater, ability to pay the Debtor Talc Claims against it as Old JJCI had before the 2021 Corporate Restructuring;⁶ and
- f. The Debtor agreed to indemnify New JJCI and its affiliates for any losses it might suffer related to the Debtor Talc Claims.

Id. ¶¶ 22-23.

At the time of the 2021 Corporate Restructuring, the Debtor received the following assets:

- a. Old JJCI’s rights and interests as payee under the Funding Agreement (as discussed below, J&J and New JJCI have agreed to advance $2 billion under the Funding Agreement into a qualified settlement trust);
- b. A bank account and approximately $6 million in cash;
- c. All contracts of Old JJCI related to its talc-related litigation, including settlement agreements, interests in qualified settlement trusts, indemnity rights, insurance coverage rights, service contracts and engagement and retention contracts, if any;
- d. All equity interests in Royalty A&M, which owns a portfolio of royalty revenue streams, including royalty revenue streams based on third-party sales of certain products, a business that is projected to generate approximately $50 million in revenue per year over the next five years and has the ability to borrow up to $50 million from J&J on terms consistent to those provided to other J&J affiliates;

⁶ Without any corresponding repayment obligation, the Funding Agreement obligates New JJCI and J&J, on a joint and several basis, to provide funding, up to the full value of New JJCI, to pay for costs and expenses of the Debtor incurred in the normal course of its business (a) at any time when there is no bankruptcy case and (b) during the pendency of any chapter 11 case, including the costs of administering the chapter 11 case, in both situations to the extent that any cash distributions received by the Debtor from Royalty A&M are insufficient to pay such costs and expenses. First Day Decl. ¶ 27. In addition, the Funding Agreement requires New JJCI and J&J to, up to the full value of New JJCI, fund amounts necessary (a) to satisfy the Debtor’s talc-related liabilities at any time when there is no bankruptcy case and (b) in the event of a chapter 11 filing, to provide the funding for a trust, in both situations to the extent that any cash distributions received by the Debtor from Royalty A&M are insufficient to pay such costs and expenses and further, in the case of the funding of a trust, the Debtor’s other assets are insufficient to provide that funding. Id.

- e. Causes of action that relate to the assets and liabilities allocated to the Debtor;
- f. Privileges that relate to the assets and liabilities allocated to the Debtor; and
- g. Records that relate to the assets and liabilities allocated to the Debtor.

Id. ¶¶ 24, 26, 30.

In total, the Debtor's value is approximately $373.1 million, without taking into account the Funding Agreement with New JJCI and J&J. Id. ¶ 26. In addition, J&J and New JJCI have committed to fund as early as January 31, 2022 a North Carolina trust that will constitute a "qualified settlement fund" with an aggregate amount of $2 billion for the payment of current and future talc-related claims asserted against or related to the Debtor. Id. ¶ 28.

The Debtor Talc Claims

Cosmetic talc litigation against the Debtor has focused primarily on JOHNSON'S® Baby Powder (hereinafter, "Johnson's Baby Powder") as a purported cause of ovarian cancer and mesothelioma. Id. ¶ 32. For over 125 years Johnson's Baby Powder has been used by hundreds of millions of consumers worldwide. Id.

J&J, a New Jersey company incorporated in 1887, first began selling Johnson's Baby Powder in 1894, launching its baby-care line of products. Id. ¶ 10. In 1972, J&J established a formal operating division for its baby products business, which included Johnson's Baby Powder. Id. In 1979, J&J transferred all its assets and liabilities associated with the baby products division to Old JJCI. Id. Following this transaction, J&J no longer manufactured or sold baby products, including Johnson's Baby Powder and, instead, Old JJCI manufactured and sold Johnson's Baby Powder. Id. ¶¶ 10, 33. Old JJCI is responsible for all claims alleging that Johnson's Baby Powder and other talc-containing products cause cancer or other disease. Id. ¶¶ 9-15.

On May 19, 2020, Old JJCI announced it would permanently discontinue its line of talc-based Johnson's Baby Powder in the U.S. and Canada. Id. The decision was based on business considerations, including lack of sales due to misinformation about the safety of Old JJCI's talc-based Johnson's Baby Powder. Id. ¶ 33. As set forth in the Debtor's Information Brief filed on the Petition Date [Dkt. 3], the Debtor stands behind the safety of Johnson's Baby Powder and asserts, based on decades of internal and third party studies and testing, that it is not a cause of either ovarian cancer or mesothelioma.

As of the Petition Date, there were approximately 38,000 ovarian cancer cases pending against the Debtor, including approximately 35,000 cases pending in the federal multi-district litigation in New Jersey (the ("MDL"), and approximately 3,300 cases in multiple state court jurisdictions across the country. Id. ¶ 42. In addition to the ovarian claims, more than 430 mesothelioma cases were pending against the Debtor on the Petition Date. These claims, like the ovarian cancer claims, spanned the U.S. with cases pending in New Jersey, California, Illinois, Missouri, New York and Ohio.

Even though J&J has not manufactured or sold talc-containing products for over 40 years, the Debtor Talc Claims are asserted in virtually every case against both the Debtor and J&J. In many jurisdictions, the plaintiffs seek to hold the Debtor and J&J jointly and severally liable for the Debtor Talc Claims.

The Debtor's Insurance Coverage

The Debtor believes that it has rights to insurance coverage for its Debtor Talc Claims. Id. ¶ 46. In particular, the Debtor has access to primary and excess liability insurance policies that cover, among other things, defense and/or indemnity costs related to talc bodily injury claims, subject to the terms of the policies.⁷ Id.

Aetna Casualty and Surety Company (“Travelers”)⁸ issued primary general liability policies to J&J (which policies cover the Debtor) for the period 1957 to 1980 (the “Travelers Policies”). Id. ¶ 47. The combined limits of the Travelers Policies (not accounting for deductibles or erosion/exhaustion of limits) total more than $214 million per occurrence and $263 million in the aggregate. Id. The deductibles increase over time, starting at a minimal level and increasing to $5 million per occurrence by 1977. Id. The limits of the Travelers Policies before 1973 are not eroded by defense costs; under later policies, defense costs erode limits. Id. From 1957 to 1985, Travelers also provided excess liability coverage to J&J that covers the Debtor. The combined aggregate limits of those policies total approximately $563 million. Id. ¶ 48.

From 1973 to 1985, a variety of other insurers issued excess policies that cover the Debtor. Id. ¶ 49. Those insurers include subsidiaries or affiliates of the following companies: American International Group, Allstate Insurance Company, The Hartford, Home Insurance Company, Nationwide Indemnity Company and North River Insurance Company. Id. The combined limits of those excess policies total more than $1.09 billion in the aggregate. Id. Certain of the insurers that issued the above-described excess policies are insolvent (including, in particular, Home Insurance Company). Id.

⁸ Aetna Casualty and Surety Company is now part of Travelers Insurance Company.

From 1981 to 1985, American Motorists Insurance Company (“AMICO”) issued primary and excess coverage that covers the Debtor (the “AMICO Policies”). Id. ¶ 50. AMICO is insolvent, having been placed into liquidation in 2013. Id. The Debtor currently believes that the applicable limits of the AMICO Policies were exhausted by payments made by AMICO on claims while it was still solvent. Id.

From 1973 through 1985, Middlesex Insurance Company (“Middlesex”), a captive insurance company that is a wholly-owned subsidiary of J&J, issued policies that cover J&J and the Debtor. Id. ¶ 51. Those policies insured J&J and Old JJCI for large deductibles under the Travelers Policies and the AMICO Policies. Id. From 1977 to 1985, Middlesex also issued excess insurance policies that cover J&J and Old JJCI. Id. As described in the First Day Declaration, there is a dispute between J&J, the Debtor, and Middlesex, on the one hand, and the third-party insurers (i.e., insurers other than the Middlesex captive), on the other hand, regarding the applicability, extent of coverage and limits of the Middlesex policies, in particular with respect to the post-1985 Middlesex policies. Id.

In total, the limits of solvent primary and excess insurance policies issued to J&J by third-party insurers that potentially cover talc-related liabilities are in excess of $1.95 billion. Id. ¶ 52.

J&J and Old JJCI have tendered talc-related claims to the third-party insurers. To date, none of those insurers has acknowledged its coverage obligations, defended Old JJCI or J&J, paid the costs of defense, or indemnified J&J or Old JJCI for settlements or judgments. Instead, the third-party insurers have asserted various coverage defenses. Id. ¶ 53.

In May 2019, certain of the Debtor’s third-party insurers filed a lawsuit against Old JJCI, J&J and Middlesex in the Superior Court of Middlesex County (Docket No. MID-L-003563-19) (the “New Jersey Coverage Action”), seeking a declaratory judgment regarding the parties’ respective obligations under the plaintiff insurers’ policies. The insurer plaintiffs filed a Second Amended Complaint on June 22, 2020. On July 31, 2020, J&J, Old JJCI, and Middlesex filed answers to the Second Amended Complaint, and asserted counterclaims and cross-claims against certain defendants. Travelers and certain other insurers filed cross-claims against J&J, Old JJCI, and Middlesex to which J&J, Old JJCI, and Middlesex responded later in 2020. The New Jersey Coverage Action remains pending. Id. at ¶ 54.

The Debtor’s Retailers and Other Indemnified Parties

Old JJCI had relationships with various Retailers, who sold Old JJCI’s talc-containing products. Some of the Retailers have contractual indemnities with the Debtor related to the sale of Old JJCI’s talc-containing products. Supp. Kim Decl. ¶ 8. In addition, to the extent a Retailer is held liable for a claim arising out of the products manufactured and/or sold by Old JJCI, and not by independent actions of the Retailers (i.e., such that those claims are Debtor Talc Claims), the Debtor likely has an obligation to indemnify the Retailers under certain state law.⁹ Id.

Old JJCI would periodically accept from Retailers tenders of talc-related claims related to the sale of its products. Id. ¶ 10. When a Retailer was sued on a Debtor Talc Claim, ⁹ See, e.g., Restatement (Second) of Torts § 886B (Am. Law Inst., 1979) (establishing obligation to indemnify party that is held vicariously liable for the conduct of the indemnitor); Restatement (Third) of Torts § 22 (Am. Law Inst., 2000) (same, and also expressly establishing a right to recover indemnity where indemnitee was held liable only as the seller of a product supplied to the indemnitee by the indemnitor); see also Promaulayko v. Johns Manville Sales Corp., 562 A.2d 202, 206 (N.J. 1989) (recognizing “claims for common-law indemnification [for asbestos-related tort claims] by one party in the chain of distribution against a party higher up the chain” in New Jersey and other states); Fireside Motors, Inc. v. Nissan Motor Corp. in U.S.A., 479 N.E.2d 1386, 1389 (Mass. 1985) (“[T]he retailer may recover in indemnity against the manufacturer.”); Tex. Civ. Prac. & Rem. Code Ann. § 82.002 (“A manufacturer shall indemnify and hold harmless a seller against loss arising out of a products liability action, except for any loss caused by the seller’s negligence, intentional misconduct, or other act or omission...”); Ariz. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 12-684; Ark. Code Ann. § 16-116-207; Iowa Code Ann. § 613.18.

the Retailer would notified Old JJCI by submitting a tender request. Id. Old JJCI would then determine whether to accept the Retailer's tender of its defense and indemnified the Retailer pursuant to a tender agreement (each, a "Tender Agreement"). Since 2018, Old JJCI has indemnified and agreed to assume the defense of nearly 600 talc-related claims against the Retailers pursuant to Tender Agreements. Id. Of those tendered claims, about 450 were pending as of the Petition Date. Id.

In addition, Old JJCI agreed to indemnify certain other transaction counterparties for liability arising from Debtor Talc Claims, including Pharma Tech Industries, Inc. and Valeant Pharmaceuticals International, Inc. (now known as Bausch Health Companies Inc.). Id. ¶ 11.

The Debtor's Decision to File for Chapter 11 Reorganization

As of the Petition Date, tens of thousands of talc-related lawsuits are pending in jurisdictions throughout the United States. See First Day Decl. ¶ 42. Absent its bankruptcy filing, the Debtor expects that thousands of additional ovarian cancer and mesothelioma cases would have been filed against it for decades to come. Id. ¶ 45.

As noted, prior to the Petition Date, Old JJCI and J&J asserted that there was no scientific or other proof that Johnson's Baby Powder either contained asbestos or was a cause of ovarian cancer or mesothelioma. As a result, Old JJCI and J&J had various successes in cosmetic talc litigation, including, among others things, dismissing roughly 1,300 ovarian cancer and over 250 mesothelioma cases without payment, and achieving 16 key defense verdicts. Id. ¶ 38. Old JJCI also succeeded in obtaining reversal of many plaintiff verdicts on appeal. Id. Despite these results, and the lack of proof that its product was unsafe, Old JJCI was also subject to a number of plaintiff verdicts involving unpredictable and wildly divergent compensatory and punitive damages awards. Id. In addition, prior to the commencement of this case, Old JJCI had incurred nearly $1 billion in defending a tidal wave of personal-injury lawsuits relating to alleged talc exposure, nearly all of which was spent in only the last five years. Id. ¶ 40. In the months prior to the Petition Date, Old JJCI was paying anywhere from $10 million to $20 million monthly in defense costs. Id. And, cosmetic talc litigation against the Debtor was anticipated to grow for decades more, as were the extraordinary costs of resolving tens of thousands of expected claims. Id. ¶ 41.

The status quo was untenable given the cost, burden, uncertainty and anticipated duration of the cosmetic talc litigation. The only available option to appropriately assess, resolve and administer the current and future talc-related claims in an efficient and equitable manner is the Chapter 11 Case. Id. ¶ 58.

The Defendants' Statements Threatening Violations of the Automatic Stay

Following the Petition Date, the Debtor filed notices of suggestion of bankruptcy (the "Bankruptcy Notices") on the dockets of pending talc-related cases against the Debtor and/or J&J (Old JJCI ceased to exist as result of the 2021 Corporate Restructuring). The Bankruptcy Notices informed the applicable courts and the parties about the commencement of the Chapter 11 Case and the application of the automatic stay to the assertion of the Debtor Talc Claims against the Debtor, J&J and other parties.

In an apparent coordinated effort to resist the automatic stay, counsel representing thousands of talc-related plaintiffs then informed the relevant courts and the Debtor in writing that they challenge the application of the automatic stay and intend to pursue the Debtor Talc Claims against J&J, Old JJCI and/or related parties. A representative sample of these communications offered by the Plaintiffs' leadership in a coordinated proceeding in California:

The Plaintiffs' Leadership opposes any effort to stay these proceedings sought by [J&J, Old JJCI] or any other related entities. The law does not provide for an automatic stay of cases against non-debtors. The Plaintiffs' Leadership will be filing an opposition to any stay filed and will request an opportunity to be heard on this issue if it should arise.

Virtually identical statements have been filed in the MDL, as referenced above, and the multicounty litigation pending in New Jersey as well as in lawsuits in New York, Georgia and Florida. The judge presiding over the MDL has asked for submissions by the parties by the end of this week regarding whether the stay applies to non-debtor parties. The counsel in these proceedings represent more than 35,000 claims against the Debtor and J&J.

ARGUMENT

I. THE COURT HAS SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION.

Section 1334(b) of title 28 of the United States Code identifies three types of proceedings over which this Court has jurisdiction — (1) those “arising under title 11,” (2) those “arising in” a case under title 11 and (3) those “related to” a case under title 11.

11 U.S.C. § 1334(b). The classification of a proceeding under section 1334 depends on the connection of the proceeding to the underlying bankruptcy case. “Arising under” jurisdiction “describe[s] those proceedings that involve a cause of action created or determined by a statutory provision of title 11.” Wood v. Wood (In re Wood), 825 F.2d 90, 96 (5th Cir. 1987). “Arising in” jurisdiction is “not based on any right expressly created by title 11, but nevertheless, would have no existence outside of the bankruptcy.” Id. at 97; Grausz v. Englander, 321 F.3d 467, 471 (4th Cir. 2003).

This Court has “arising under” jurisdiction to determine that section 362(a) of the Bankruptcy Code prohibits the commencement or continuation of Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties while the Chapter 11 Case remains pending. A bankruptcy court has jurisdiction for matters “arising under” provisions of the Bankruptcy Code such as section 362.

See e.g., A.H. Robins Co. v. Piccinin, 788 F.2d 994, 999-1000 (4th Cir. 1986); In re Brier Creek Corp. Ctr. Assocs. Ltd., 486 B.R. 681, 685 (Bankr. E.D.N.C. 2013).

The request for a preliminary injunction “arises in” the Chapter 11 Case because it “would have no existence outside of the bankruptcy.” Bergstrom v. Dalkon Shield Claimants Tr. (In re A.H. Robins Co.), 86 F.3d 364, 372 (4th Cir. 1996). Section 105(a) of the Bankruptcy Code empowers a bankruptcy court to “enjoin parties other than the bankruptcy from commencing or continuing litigation” during the bankruptcy case where such litigation will undermine the debtor’s reorganization. Robins, 788 F.2d at 1002 (internal quotations omitted). An injunction to protect the very integrity of the bankruptcy case obviously would not exist but for the bankruptcy case itself. As such, “the debtors would not be entitled to a § 105 injunction but for the existence of their bankruptcy cases.” Brier Creek, 486 B.R. at 685 (emphasis added); see also In re Lyondell Chem. Co., 402 B.R. 571, 586 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2009) (same; also finding “arising under” jurisdiction). And “common sense indicates that, if the Court has subject matter jurisdiction over a proceeding to determine the applicability of the automatic stay, then it has jurisdiction over a related motion for preliminary injunctive relief.” Brier Creek, 486 B.R. at 685 (quoting FPSDA II, LLC v. Larin, No. 10-75439, 2013 WL 6681794, at *5 (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. Dec. 21, 2012)).

II. THE AUTOMATIC STAY PROHIBITS PROSECUTION OF DEBTOR TALC CLAIMS AGAINST THE PROTECTED PARTIES.

The automatic stay provided by section 362(a) of the Bankruptcy Code allows “the bankruptcy court to centralize all disputes concerning property of the debtor’s estate in bankruptcy court so that reorganization can proceed efficiently, unimpeded by uncoordinated proceedings in other arenas.” Shugrue v. Air Line Pilots Ass’n, Int’l (In re Ionosphere Clubs, Inc.), 922 F.2d 984, 989 (2d Cir. 1990); Aldrich Pump, 2021 WL 3729335, at *30 (ruling that claims against third parties which “necessarily result in the liquidation and recovery of claims against the Debtors outside of the bankruptcy case” are barred by the automatic stay); see also 11 U.S.C. § 362(a). Fourth Circuit precedent recognizes that the automatic stay of section 362(a) may apply of its own force to prohibit the prosecution of Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties. Indeed, this Court has recently ruled that the automatic stay applies to actions against non-debtor parties under similar circumstances. See Aldrich Pump, 2021 WL 3729335, at *31-32; DBMP, 2021 WL 3552350, at *28 (same). Thus, the Debtor requests a declaration that section 362(a) of the Bankruptcy Code prohibits the commencement or continuation of Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties while the Debtor’s Chapter 11 Case remains pending.

A. Actions Seeking to Hold Protected Parties Liable for Debtor Talc Claims Are Stayed Pursuant to Section 362(a)(1).

Section 362(a)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code prohibits the “commencement or continuation . . . of a judicial . . . action or proceeding against the debtor that was or could have been commenced before the commencement of the case under this title, or to recover a claim against the debtor that arose before the commencement of the case under this title.” 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(1).

As explained above, Old JJCI no longer exists, and the Debtor is responsible for the Debtor Talc Claims. Thus, the commencement or continuation of the Debtor Talc Claims against Old JJCI can have only one purpose: the ultimate liquidation and recovery of claims against the Debtor. And, because the Debtor Talc Claims allege liabilities arising out of Old JJCI's actions years before the Petition Date, any action against Old JJCI to recover such claims is expressly enjoined by section 362(a)(1) because it constitutes an "action or proceeding against the debtor" to recover a prepetition claim. See In re Heating Oil Partners, No. 3:08-CV-1976 CSH, 2009 WL 5110838, at *6–7 (D. Conn. Dec. 17, 2009) (holding that a default judgment entered as to a predecessor entity of the debtor was automatically stayed upon the successor entity's chapter 11 filing and void ab initio), aff'd sub nom. In re Heating Oil Partners, LP, 422 F. App'x 15 (2d Cir. 2011).

Likewise, as explained above, all of J&J's liabilities associated with Johnson's Baby Powder and other talc-containing products were transferred to Old JJCI when it assumed those liabilities in 1979. Thus, the pursuit of the Debtor Talc Claims against J&J is an effort to liquidate and recover claims for liabilities that were transferred to the Debtor's predecessor in 1979 and are now liabilities of the Debtor. In re Colonial Realty Co., 980 F.2d 125, 131-32 (2d Cir. 1992 (actions "to recover a claim against the debtor" as provided in section 362(a)(1) "must encompass cases in which the debtor is not a defendant; it would otherwise be totally duplicative of the former category and pure surplusage"); Queenie, Ltd. v. Nygard Int'l, 321 F.3d 282, 287 (2d Cir. 2003) (automatic stay may apply to non-debtors, specifically where there is a claim to establish an obligation of which the debtor is a guarantor) (citing McCartney v. Integra National Bank North, 106 F.3d 506, 510-11 (3d Cir. 1997)).

In addition, Fourth Circuit precedent recognizes that the automatic stay imposed by section 362(a)(1) extends of its own force to enjoin actions against parties who share such an identity of interests with the debtor in respect to those actions that the debtor is, in effect, the real-party defendant. Actions against the Retailers and Indemnified Parties, including New JJCI and J&J, are stayed because, given the Debtor's responsibility for claims asserted against the Retailers and the Indemnified Parties, including New JJCI or J&J, "there is such identity" with the Debtor that it "may be said to be the real party defendant." See Robins, 788 F.2d at 999; see also McCartney v. Integra Nat'l Bank N., 106 F.3d 506, 510–11 (3d Cir. 1997) (concluding that the automatic stay enjoined an action against non-debtor third party where the debtor "was, in essence, the real party in interest" in the pursuit of a deficiency judgment against the third party); Brier Creek, 486 B.R. at 689-92.

The Fourth Circuit in Robins described a type of situation that would cause such an identity of interests:

An illustration of such a situation would be a suit against a third-party who is entitled to absolute indemnity by the debtor on account of any judgment that might result against them in the case.

Robins, 788 F.2d at 999. Indeed, the court continued, "[t]o refuse application of the statutory stay in that case would defeat the very purpose and intent of the statute." Id.; see id. (quoting In re Metal Ctr., 31 B.R. 458, 462 (D. Conn. 1983) ("Clearly the debtor's protection must be extended to enjoin litigation against others if the result would be binding upon the debtor's estate.")); Edwards v. McElliotts Trucking, LLC, No. 3:16-1879, 2017 WL 5559921, at *3 (S.D. W. Va. Nov. 17, 2017) (finding that indemnification arrangement between the debtor and non-debtor defendants made action against non-debtor defendants subject to the automatic stay imposed by section 362(a)(1)); In re W.R. Grace & Co., Case No. 01-01139 (JKF), 2004 WL 954772, at *4 (Bankr. D. Del. Apr. 29, 2004) (applying automatic stay to litigation between two non-debtor parties where one of the parties was entitled to contractual indemnity from the debtor on account of such claims and amending preliminary injunction order to include such action).

“Identity of interests” also occurs where adjudication of the claims against non-debtors “raises collateral estoppel and res judicata issues for the debtor.” Aldrich Pump, 2021 WL 3729335, at *31.

This Court recently held on similar facts that the automatic stay applied to stay actions where the debtor was the real-party defendant and litigating the mass tort claims against third parties, which included non-debtor affiliates, would effectively liquidate claims against the debtor. Aldrich Pump, 2021 WL 3729335, at *31; DBMP, 2021 WL 3552350, at *27.

Here, as in Robins, and more recently in DBMP and Aldrich Pump, the Protected Parties share an identity of interest with the Debtor in respect of the Debtor Talc Claims such that the Debtor is the real-party defendant in the Debtor Talc Claims brought against the Protected Parties. As discussed above, litigating, settling or attempting to establish the value the Debtor Talc Claims against the non-debtor affiliate would liquidate claims against the Debtor, including by triggering existing indemnification and similar obligations of the Debtor to such entities. Such litigation also creates risks of binding the Debtor through res judicata and collateral estoppel, and creating an evidentiary record that prejudices the Debtor. Because the Debtor is the real-party defendant in any suit seeking to liquidate and recover on account of a Debtor Talc Claim, section 362(a)(1) stays such actions

B. Insurance Policies Are Estate Assets and Therefore Suits That Would Deplete Those Policies Are Automatically Stayed.

Section 362(a)(3) bars plaintiffs from bringing suits, both against the Debtor’s Insurers and J&J, that would deplete the Debtor’s insurance on account of Debtor Talc Claims because the right to insurance coverage is property of the estate. See Aldrich Pump, 2021 WL 3729335, at *33 (“[S]ection 362(a)(3) bars plaintiffs from bringing actions against the Debtors’ Insurers on account of Aldrich/Murray Asbestos Claims because the insurance coverage is also property of the estate.”); see also Robins, 788 F.2d at 1001 (agreeing with “the weight of authority” that insurance contracts are property of the estate and that “[a]ccordingly actions ‘related to’ the bankruptcy proceedings against the insurer . . . are to be stayed under section 362(a)(3)”); In re Johns-Manville Corp., 40 B.R. 219, 231 (S.D.N.Y. 1984) (“determin[ing] that Manville’s insurance is property of the estate under the Code and that actions by third parties against the bankrupt’s insurers are automatically stayed upon the filing of the petition”).

J&J and the Debtor are both covered for talc-related claims under various shared insurance policies. The right to coverage under these insurance policies is property of the Debtor’s estate, and prosecution of a claim against J&J, a co-insured party, would deplete proceeds available to the Debtor, thereby reducing assets available to the bankruptcy estate. See, e.g., In re Quigley Co., Inc., 676 F.3d 45, 53-54, 58 (2d Cir. 2012) (“[W]here litigation of the [lawsuits against non-debtor] would almost certainly result in the drawing down of insurance policies that are part of the bankruptcy estate of [debtor], the exercise of bankruptcy jurisdiction to enjoin these suits was appropriate.”); Robins, 788 F.2d at 1008 (sustaining injunction and transfer of claims against non-debtors in part because such claims, if successful, would reduce insurance funds available to debtor’s estate); In re Montreal Me. & Atl. Ry., Ltd., No. 1:13-MC-00184-NT, 2014 WL 1155419, at *10 (D. Me. Mar. 21, 2014) (finding jurisdiction and transferring non-debtors’ cases based on shared insurance); Raudonis, as trustee for the Raudonis 2016 Revocable Trust v. RealtyShares, Inc., 507 F.Supp 378, 384 (D. Mass. 2020) (“Because courts generally recognize insurance policy as ‘property’ under 11 U.S.C. § 541(a)(1) – and thus find such policies subject to an automatic stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(3) – the defendants' shared insurance contract arguably sweeps [co-insureds] into the reach of the automatic stay."); In re Metro Mortg. & Secs. Co., 325 B.R. 851 (Bankr. E.D. Wash. 2005) (holding that shared insurance policies and their proceeds were property of the debtors' estates and were protected by automatic stay).

Here, insurance is potentially available to both the Debtor and J&J under various insurance policies for talc-related claims. If a Debtor Talc Claim is prosecuted against J&J, J&J may seek coverage under these shared insurance policies to satisfy any judgment, thereby reducing the coverage available to the Debtor's estate. Such a depletion of an estate asset violates the automatic stay and, therefore, Debtor Talc Claims against the Insurers and J&J are stayed pursuant to section 362(a)(3).

C. Actions Seeking to Hold Protected Parties Liable for the Debtor Talc Claims Based on "Derivative Liability" Are Property of the Debtor's Estate and Automatically Stayed.

Section 541 of the Bankruptcy Code establishes that the filing of a bankruptcy case creates an "estate." 11 U.S.C. § 541(a). That estate includes "all legal or equitable interests of the debtor in property as of the commencement of the case," wherever located and by whomever held. Id. § 541(a)(1). Thus, the estate "includes legal causes of action the debtor had against others at the commencement of the bankruptcy case." Baillie Lumber Co. v. Thompson (In re Icarus Holding, LLC), 391 F.3d 1315, 1319 (11th Cir. 2004). See Steyr-Daimler-Puch of Am. Corp. v. Pappas, 852 F.2d 132, 135 (4th Cir. 1988) (creditor's alter ego claim against debtor's principal and affiliate was cause of action that debtor could assert under state law and thus was "'property of the estate' within the meaning of § 541(a)(1)").

Section 362(a) of the Bankruptcy Code states that the filing of a bankruptcy petition "operates as a stay, applicable to all entities, of . . . (3) any act . . . to exercise control over property of the estate; . . ." 11 U.S.C. § 362(a). Accordingly, when claims against a non-debtor “are property of the estate under section 541(a), any similar extraneous lawsuits brought by individual creditors will be subject to the automatic stay provision of 11 U.S.C.

§ 362(a)(3).” Baillie Lumber, 391 F.3d at 1319. As the Fourth Circuit explained in Steyr:

Since the alter ego claim against Pappas and Hawk U.S.A. is “property of the estate” within the meaning of § 541(a)(1), certain conclusions follow. First, the automatic stay applies. Moreover, because the claim is property of the estate, the trustee is given full authority over it. Thus, before . . . a creditor may pursue a claim, there must be a judicial determination that the trustee in bankruptcy has abandoned the claim. Without such a determination, a creditor seeking to pursue a claim cannot maintain it.

852 F.2d at 136 (citations omitted). “Thus,” as Judge Mullen has observed, “in the Fourth Circuit the rule is settled that Code § 362(a)(3) stays automatically—without a restraining order—a creditor’s claim against a third-party that the debtor can assert for the benefit of the estate.” Litchfield Co. of S.C. Ltd. P’ship v. Anchor Bank (In re Litchfield Co. of S.C. Ltd. P’ship), 135 B.R. 797, 803 n.4 (W.D.N.C. 1992).

To determine whether a creditor’s claim against a non-debtor constitutes an act to exercise control over property of the estate, a court must answer two inquiries: (a) whether “the debtor could have asserted the claim on his own behalf under state law” and (b) whether the individual creditor’s claim against the non-debtor is a “general claim” available to the debtor’s other creditors. Harrison v. Soroof Int’l, Inc., 320 F. Supp. 3d 602, 613 (D. Del. 2018); see Baillie Lumber, 391 F.3d at 1321. Those answers here establish that any fraudulent transfer, alter ego and, successor liability or similar “derivative” claims that might be alleged by the Defendants against the Debtor’s non-debtor affiliates seek to exercise control over property of the Debtor’s estate and are thus stayed by section 362(a)(3). Aldrich Pump, 2021 WL 3729335, at *36 (“The law in the Fourth Circuit is that certain theories of recovery . . . are property of the debtor's estate. These include alter ego and successor liability theories of recovery.”). While it is not entirely clear whether the Defendants are asserting or will assert such “derivative claims” against the Debtor's non-debtor affiliates, given the Defendants' broad statements to date that they intend to continue to pursue these entities for talc-related claims notwithstanding the Debtor's chapter 11 filing, it is appropriate for this Court to confirm for the benefit of the Debtor, and as a clear direction to the Defendants, that any such actions would be barred by the automatic stay.

1. The Debtor Had Standing Under State Law To Assert Alter Ego and Successor Liability Claims at the Time It Commenced The Chapter 11 Case

(a) The Debtor's Standing To Bring Alter Ego and Successor Liability Claims Under State Law

Whether a debtor had standing to assert a cause of action against another at the time it filed its bankruptcy case is a question of state law. Mitchell v. Greenberg (In re Creative Entm't, Inc.), No. 00-3114, 2003 Bankr. LEXIS 2468, *6 n.5 (Bankr. W.D.N.C. May 28, 2003); see also Alvarez v. Ward, 2011 WL 7025906 at *3 (W.D.N.C. Oct. 17, 2011); In re Midstate Mills, Inc., No. 13-50033, 2015 WL 5475295, at *6 (Bankr. W.D.N.C. Sept. 15, 2015). As the court observed in Holcomb v. Pilot Freight Carriers, Inc., 120 B.R. 35 (M.D.N.C. 1990), the Fourth Circuit, along with many other circuits, “has determined that whether a bankruptcy trustee alone has a right to bring alter ego claims, on behalf of unsecured creditors and the debtor corporation, is a matter which ultimately depends on whether the relevant state law provides that such actions belong to the corporation and creditors in general.” Id. at 38.

To determine which state law is the “relevant state law” for this inquiry, courts use the choice-of-law rules of the forum state in which the bankruptcy case was filed. See Butler v. Enhanced Equity Fund II, LP (In re Am. Ambulette & Ambulance Serv. Inc.), 560 B.R. 256, 262 & 269 (Bankr. E.D.N.C. 2016). Accord M-Tek Kiosk, Inc. v. Clayton, No. 1:15CV886, 2016 WL 2997505 at *5 (M.D.N.C. May 23, 2016) (it is settled in the Fourth Circuit “that a bankruptcy court faced with the issue of which substantive law to apply to a claim . . . applies the choice of law rules of the forum state”) (citation omitted). Because it is the forum state here, North Carolina’s choice-of-law rules determine which state law governs whether the Debtor had standing to assert alter ego and successor liability claims at the time the bankruptcy case was filed. The choice-of-law rules “vary depending on the character of the claim at hand, i.e., whether the claim relates to torts, contracts, property, etc., or whether it is procedural as opposed to substantive in nature.” Butler, 560 B.R. at 262.

With respect to alter ego claims, North Carolina (like most jurisdictions) applies the “internal affairs doctrine,” which applies the law of the state in which the debtor is incorporated. See Butler, 560 B.R. at 269-70 (citing Dassault Falcon Jet Corp. v. Oberflex, Inc., 909 F. Supp. 345, 348-49 (M.D.N.C. 1995)). See generally M-Tek, 2016 WL 2997505 at *5 (Delaware law governed debtor’s right to bring claim against alter ego because forum state’s choice-of-law rules apply “internal affairs doctrine” to such claims and debtor was Delaware corporation). Here, the Debtor was a North Carolina limited liability company when it commenced its chapter 11 case. Thus, North Carolina law governs whether it had standing at that time to pierce its own corporate veils to assert alter ego claims.¹⁰

¹⁰ At the time of the 2021 Corporate Restructuring when it was formed, the Debtor was a Texas limited liability company. In addition, during the 2021 Corporate Restructuring, Old JJCI (which was formerly a New Jersey corporation) became an entity formed under Texas law. See First Day Decl. ¶ 16. Thus, it is conceivable that a claimant might contend that, under the “internal affairs doctrine,” Texas (or even New Jersey) law instead governs whether the Debtor had the right to assert the alleged alter ego claim when this bankruptcy case was commenced, depending on what facts are alleged to support the claim and when the claim allegedly arose. See Keene, 164 B.R. 844, 847 n.3 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 1994).

As detailed below, the law of Texas and New Jersey is identical to North Carolina law as to whether a corporation has a right to pierce its own veil to sue an alleged alter ego in order to hold it responsible for the corporation’s debts. Accordingly, this Court does not need to resolve that particular choice-of-law question to determine whether a Defendant’s assertion of such an alter ego claim is barred by the automatic

(b) The Debtor Had Standing Under North Carolina Law To Pierce its Corporate Veil and Seek Recovery from an Alter Ego

Courts that have examined the issue have held that North Carolina law empowers a corporation to seek to pierce its corporate veil to sue an alleged alter ego for the purpose of holding it responsible for the corporation's debts. See Alvarez v. Ward, No. 1:11CV03, 2012 WL 113567, at *4 n.5 (W.D.N.C. Jan. 13, 2012); Alvarez v. Ward, 2011 WL 7025906 at *3; Holcomb, 120 B.R. at 41-42; Midstate Mills, 2015 WL 5475295 at *7; Mitchell, 2003 Bankr. LEXIS 2468 at *26-28. Those decisions all followed the Fourth Circuit's decision in Steyr.

In Steyr, the Fourth Circuit held that a debtor corporation had the right under Virginia law to bring an alter ego claim against its principal and an affiliate, and that the claim became property of the estate when the corporation filed its chapter 7 case. 852 F.2d at 136. The court reasoned that "[u]nder Virginia law, a corporation has an equitable interest in the assets of an alter ego because the corporation and the alter ego are 'one and the same.'" Id. (quoting Pepper v. Dixie Splint Coal Co., 165 Va. 179, 181 S.E. 406 (1935)). The Fourth Circuit in Steyr held that section 541(a) "brings the right of [the debtor corporation] to proceed against its alter ego and claim its equitable interest in assets of the alter ego into the bankruptcy estate," id., endorsing the Fifth Circuit's analysis of the same question under Texas law in S.I. Acquisition, Inc. v. Eastway Delivery Serv., Inc. (In re S.I. Acquisition, Inc.), 817 F.2d 1142, 1152-53 (5th Cir. 1987).

stay. See Tronox, 855 F.3d at 104 & n.25 ("we need not resolve the parties' dispute concerning which state's law governs" because, under either Pennsylvania or Delaware law, alter ego claims were estate property "to the extent the claims qualify as 'general'"). In re Emoral Inc., 740 F.3d 875, 879 n.2 (3d Cir. 2014) (whether debtor had right to bring successor liability claim was governed by either New Jersey or New York law, and "the two states' relevant applicable legal standards are identical, rendering a choice-of-law analysis unnecessary"); Sterne Agee Grp., Inc. v. Robinson (In re Anderson & Strudwick, Inc.), No. 14-03175, 2015 WL 1651146, at *6 n.4 (Bankr. E.D. Va. April 8, 2015) (same for New York and Virginia successor liability law, which are "essentially the same").

In analyzing Texas law on this issue, the Fifth Circuit in S.I. Acquisition concluded:

Not surprisingly, we have found no Texas law suggesting that a corporation could or could not itself bring an alter ego claim. Even so, we note that the predominate policy of Texas alter ego law is that the control entity that has misused the corporate form will be held accountable for the corporation's obligations. [Citation omitted]; see also Valdes [v. Leisure Resource Group, Inc.], 810 F.2d 1345, 1353 (5th Cir. 1987)] (alter ego doctrine applies to hold dominant entity responsible for subservient company's debt since dominant entity was responsible for creating the debts). Since the corporation has an independent existence at law, we do not believe it is inconsistent in light of the above policy to say that a corporation may pierce its own corporate veil and hold accountable those who have misused the corporation in order to meet its corporate obligations.

817 F.2d at 1152. In reaching that conclusion, the Fifth Circuit found persuasive Judge Jones' explanation in In re Western World Funding, Inc., 52 B.R. 743 (Bankr. D. Nev. 1985), that "[t]he corporation may be thought of as a separate legal entity which 'has an interest of its own in assuring that it can meet its responsibility to its creditors,' [citation omitted] while at the same time allowing it to argue that it should be deemed to be identical to its alleged alter ego for purposes of paying those creditors. " Id. at 784.

In Holcomb, Judge Bullock adopted Magistrate Judge Eliason's extensive review of North Carolina law governing alter ego claims. 120 B.R. at 38-42. Based on that review, Magistrate Judge Eliason rejected the argument that North Carolina law was "radically different" from the Nevada law applied by Judge Jones in Western World Funding and the Virginia law applied by the Fourth Circuit in Steyr. 120 B.R. at 39-40. Instead, he found:

Having completed this examination of North Carolina law, the Court finds it to be entirely consistent with the Fourth Circuit's requirement in Steyr that a corporation may be said to have an equitable interest in the assets of an alter ego when they are one and the same. Steyr, 852 F.2d at 136. Thus, in North Carolina, alter ego claims, which are based on factors which establish that the controlled corporation and the alter ego have the same identity, belong to the bankruptcy estate and must be prosecuted by the trustee.

Id. at 41-42. Magistrate Judge Howell reached the very same conclusion in Alvarez:

North Carolina law, like Virginia law, treats a corporation and its alter-ego as “one and the same” Fischer Inv. Capital, Inc. v. Catawba Dev., Corp., 689 S.E.2d 143, 147 (N.C. Ct. App. 2009) (quoting Strategic Outsourcing, Inc. v. Stacks, 625 S.E.2d 800, 804 (N.C. Ct. App. 2006)). Consistent with the Fourth Circuit’s holding in [Steyr], a corporation has an interest in the assets of its alter ego, and, thus, an alter ego claim is the property of the estate for purposes of Section 541(a)(1).

2011 WL 7025906 at *3 (citing Steyr, 852 F.2d at 136, and Holcomb, 120 B.R. at 41-42).

Relying on Holcomb and Alvarez, the bankruptcy court in this District has repeatedly held that a corporation has the right to sue an alleged alter ego under North Carolina law and that such claim becomes property of the estate when the corporation files a bankruptcy case. Midstate Mills, 2015 WL 5475295 at *7; Mitchell, 2003 Bankr. LEXIS 2468 at *26-28.

To the extent that a party might assert instead that Texas or New Jersey law governs whether the Debtor has standing to bring an alter ego claim against a Protected Party, courts applying the law from both states have reached the same conclusion. See S.I. Acquisition, 817 F.2d at 1153 (corporation had right under Texas law to bring alter ego claim, which became property of estate when corporation filed bankruptcy case); Tsai v. Bldgs. by Jamie, Inc. (In re Bldgs. by Jamie, Inc.), 230 B.R. 36, 43 (Bankr. D.N.J. 1998) (corporation can sue alter ego under New Jersey law, noting “majority of courts in other jurisdictions that have addressed the issue of authority to pursue an alter ego action on behalf of a corporate debtor have also held that the trustee has standing” to assert such claim).

(c) The Debtor Also Had Standing To Bring Successor Liability Claims

As is the case in most states, the general rule is, ““where one company sells or otherwise transfers all its assets to another company, the latter is not liable for the debts and liabilities of the transferor.’ City of Richmond v. Madison Mgmt. Grp., Inc., 918 F.2d 438, 450 (4th Cir. 1990) (quoting 15 W. Fletcher, Cyclopedia of the Law of Private Corporations, § 7122, at 188 (rev. perm. ed. 1983)).” Leonard v. Bed, Bath & Beyond, Inc., No.5:15-CV-00284, 2016 WL 158587, at *2 (E.D.N.C. Jan. 8, 2016). Most states recognize four exceptions to the general rule:

(1) where there is an express or implied agreement by the purchasing corporation to assume the debt or liability; (2) where the transfer amounts to a de facto merger of the two corporations; (3) where the transfer of assets was done for the purpose of defrauding the corporation’s creditors; or (4) where the purchasing corporation is a “mere continuation” of the selling corporation in that the purchasing corporation has some of the same shareholders, directors, and officers.

Leonard, 2016 WL 158587 at *3 (citing G.P. Publ’ns, Inc. v. Quebecor Printing-St. Paul, Inc., 481 S.E.2d 674, 679 (N.C. Ct. App. 1997) (citing Budd Tire Corp. v. Pierce Tire Co., 370 S.E.2d 267, 269 (N.C. Ct. App. 1988))).

In Mitchell, this Court noted that whether state law allows a corporation (or its receiver) to recover on a claim against an alleged successor under one of these exceptions “is apparently a question of first impression under North Carolina law.” 2003 Bankr. LEXIS 2468 at *28-29. Finding that “[s]uch a claim is substantially similar to an alter ego claim because it seeks to recover assets of a corporation and to make these available to satisfy creditor claims,” the Court held that the debtor could assert a successor liability claim under North Carolina law and that the claim became property of the estate under section 541(a) when the corporation’s chapter 7 case was commenced. Id. (citing Keene, 164 B.R. at 853).

As was this Court's reasoning in Mitchell, Judge Bernstein's reasoning in Keene was based on the finding that "[t]he principles relating to successor tort liability, and the results which they are designed to achieve, are similar to piercing the corporate veil." 164 B.R. at 852. Applying New York law on successor liability that was the same as the North Carolina law detailed in Leonard, id., Judge Bernstein declared that the automatic stay barred the asbestos claimants from pursuing their actions against the debtor's affiliates on successor liability claims, explaining that "the remedy against a successor corporation for the tort liability of the predecessor is, like the piercing remedy, an equitable means of expanding the assets available to satisfy creditor claims" and that, for "the same reasons stated with respect to the piercing claims, claims based upon successor liability should be asserted by the trustee on behalf of all creditors." Id. at 853.

The Third Circuit reached the same conclusion in In re Emoral Inc., 740 F.3d 875 (3d Cir. 2014). In that case, the debtor manufactured a chemical used in food flavoring that gave rise to personal injury claims. After it sold operating assets to a transferee, the debtor filed its bankruptcy case, and the trustee for the debtor's estate entered into a settlement with the transferee in which the trustee released it from claims that "are property of the" debtor's estate. The personal injury claimants then sued the transferee in state court, alleging that the transferee was a "mere continuation" of the debtor and thus subject to their successor liability claims.

When the bankruptcy court denied the transferee's motion to enforce the order approving its settlement with the trustee, the district court reversed and the Third Circuit affirmed the district court's reversal. The Third Circuit, relying on Keene and cases finding that a corporation had standing under state law to assert alter ego claims, held that the personal injury claimants' successor liability claims against the transferee were property of the estate under the state law of both New York and New Jersey and were thus settled and released by the trustee. 740 F.3d at 880-82 and n.3. The court noted that, while that result might seem odd at first, it nonetheless makes perfect sense:

As we observed in Phar–Mor, so, too, here it “may seem strange” to hold that a cause of action for successor liability against Aaroma is property of Emoral’s bankruptcy estate. As a practical matter, it is difficult to imagine a factual scenario in which a solvent Emoral, outside of the bankruptcy context, would or could bring a claim for successor liability against Aaroma. [Citation omitted.] Just as the purpose behind piercing the corporate veil, however, the purpose of successor liability is to promote equity and avoid unfairness, and it is not incompatible with that purpose for a trustee, on behalf of a debtor corporation, to pursue that claim.

Id. at 881.

The Second Circuit, in Tronox, reached the same conclusion as this Court in Mitchell and the courts in Keene and Emoral, holding that the alter ego and the successor liability claims of 4,300 toxic tort claimants against a non-debtor transferee were property of the debtor’s estate under both Pennsylvania and Delaware law. 855 F.3d at 104 (citing Rosener v. Majestic Mgmt., Inc. (In re OODC, LLC), 321 B.R. 128, 136-37 (Bankr. D. Del. 2005) (allowing trustee to bring successor liability and alter ego claims under Delaware law)); see also Sterne Agee Grp., Inc. v. Robinson (In re Anderson & Strudwick, Inc.), No. 14-32679-KLP, 2015 WL 1651146, at *5 (Bankr. E.D. Va. Apr. 8, 2015) (holding Virginia law allows corporation to recover against its alleged successor based on both Steyr and the “weight of authority outside this Circuit” that “supports the conclusion that a successor liability claim constitutes property of the bankruptcy estate under Bankruptcy Code § 541(a)(1)”).

2. Any Alleged Alter Ego and Successor Liability Claims Are Based on Facts and Legal Theories that Are Generally Available to Other Creditors of the Debtor

State law affords an individual creditor the right in some circumstances to recover a claim against an entity from a third party based on alter ego and successor liability theories. But once that entity files for bankruptcy, the creditor's pursuit of the claim against the third party is automatically stayed by section 362(a)(3) if it constitutes an act "to exercise control over" the same or similar claim that state law affords to the debtor to assert generally on behalf of its creditors. When the individual creditor's claim against the third party is based on facts and legal theories "generally available" to the debtor's other creditors, the stay applies because the individual creditor's pursuit of the claim interferes with, and thus constitutes an act "to exercise control over," the same or similar claim that is property of the estate. Accordingly, to avoid the automatic stay, the individual creditor's claim against the third party must be based on facts and legal theories of liability that are "personal" and "unique" to that creditor. Emoral, 740 F.3d at 880; Baillie Lumber, 391 F.3d at 1321.

In undertaking this inquiry, the Court "should be focused on [the creditor]'s alter ego claim itself—not [the creditor]'s underlying claim" against the debtor. Harrison, 320 F. Supp. 3d at 619. "The case law demonstrates that an alter ego or successorship claim is personal, and thus can be asserted by an individual creditor, only if the conduct that supports the claim is the same conduct that directly harmed the creditor in the underlying cause of action." Labarbera v. United Crane & Rigging Servs, Inc., No 08-CV-3274, 2011 WL 1303146 at *7 (E.D.N.Y. March 2, 2011).

Any alter ego or successor liability claims that the Defendants attempt to assert against the Non-Debtor Affiliates are "general," not "personal," because the facts and legal theories on which the alleged liability of the affiliate is based have nothing to do with the conduct that gave rise to the claimants' talc-related claim against the Debtor. Here, as in Emoral, if claimants were in fact harmed by the restructuring (they were not), all creditors would benefit if the successor liability claims were successful:

To determine whether the Diacetyl Plaintiffs' cause of action against Aaroma constitutes property of Emoral's bankruptcy estate, we must examine the nature of the cause of action itself. While the Diacetyl Plaintiffs focus on the individualized nature of their personal injury claims against Emoral, we cannot ignore the fact, and fact it be, the their only theory of liability as against Aaroma, a third party that is not alleged to have caused any direct injury to the Diacetyl Plaintiffs, is that, as a matter of state law, Aaroma constitutes a "mere continuation" of Emoral such that it has also succeeded to all of Emoral's liabilities. . . .

The Diacetyl Plaintiffs fail to demonstrate how any of the factual allegations that would establish their cause of action based on successor liability are unique to them as compared to other creditors of Emoral. Likewise, they fail to demonstrate how recovery on their successor liability cause of action would not benefit all creditors of Emoral given that Aaroma, as a mere continuation of Emoral, would succeed to all of Emoral's liabilities. . . .

. . . Therefore, the District Court appropriately classified the cause of action as a generalized claim constituting property of the estate.

740 F.3d at 879-81. Accord Tronox, 855 F.3d at 103 (agreeing with Emoral holding that personal injury claimants' successor liability claim was "general" rather than "individualized," observing: "That the plaintiffs in Emoral had an underlying harm specific to them did not put the claims automatically outside the estate. Indeed, every creditor in bankruptcy has an individual claim (set forth in a proof of claim) against the debtor, whether it be in tort (as here), contract, or otherwise.").

The Second Circuit's analysis of the issue in Tronox is instructive here. In that case, the court emphasized the "critical distinction between the underlying tort claim against" the debtors and the alter ego and successor liability claims against the newly-created transferee that received assets from the debtors' predecessors. 855 F.3d at 107. In holding that the court below had "correctly classified the [tort claimants'] claims as generalized, derivative claims comprising estate property," the Second Circuit explained that establishing the former [the underlying tort claim] would benefit only [the tort claimants] as individual creditors, whereas the latter—that New Kerr-McGee is the alter ego of the relevant Tronox debtors and should therefore be charged with all its liabilities—would benefit all creditors of the Tronox debtors generally. See Emoral, 740 F.3d at 880. The facts necessary to prove that the Tronox debtors committed the underlying torts may be particular to the [tort claimants], but the facts necessary to impute that liability to New Kerr-McGee "would be . . . generally available to any creditor, and recovery would serve to increase the pool of assets available to all creditors."

Tronox, 855 F.3d at 107 (quoting Emoral, 740 F.3d at 881).

The court in Tronox emphasized that, "[i]n distinguishing derivative claims from particularized claims exclusive to individual creditors, labels are not conclusive, since plaintiffs often try, but are not permitted, to plead around a bankruptcy." 855 F.3d at 100. "In other words," the court explained, "we are wary of putting form over substance. Thus, we 'inquire into the factual origins of the injury and, more importantly, into the nature of the legal claims asserted.'" Id. (citations omitted).

Judge Mullen made the same point almost thirty years ago, in Litchfield Co. of S.C. Ltd. P'ship v. Anchor Bank (In re Litchfield Co. of S.C. Ltd. P'ship), 135 B.R. 797 (W.D.N.C. 1992). In that case, a creditor bank filed a state court action against the general partners of a debtor limited partnership, based on state law that permitted creditors to hold general partners liable for the partnership's debts. In the bankruptcy court, Judge Wooten, applying the Fourth Circuit's decision in Steyr, held that the bank's continued prosecution of its state court action violated the automatic stay imposed by section 362(a)(3) because, "under South Carolina law, the debtor was empowered to compel its general partners to pay the debts of the debtor partnership and that, under Code § 541(a), this power became property of the estate upon the filing of the debtor's bankruptcy case." Id. at 802. In affirming Judge Wooten's holding on appeal, Judge Mullen rejected the bank's argument "that its right[] to proceed against" the general partners "is separate and legally distinct from the right of the debtor to compel its general partners to pay the debts of the debtor partnership." Id. at 804. Judge Mullen explained:

While it is true that the appellant's right to proceed against the general partners is not identical to the debtor's rights under South Carolina law, nevertheless, proceeding against the general partners would necessarily impair the debtor's exercise of its right to compel its general partners to pay its debts, thus interfering with property of the estate. . . . The bankruptcy court's application of the rule set forth by the Fourth Circuit in [Steyr] to the defendant's action against the Partners is not only consistent with, but necessary to promote, the fundamental bankruptcy principle of preserving property of the estate to ensure a ratable distribution to creditors.

Id. (emphasis added).

Seven years later, the Fourth Circuit, in Nat'l Am. Ins. Co. v. Ruppert Landscaping Co., Inc., 187 F.3d 439 (4th Cir. 1999), relied on Judge Mullen's decision in Litchfield in making this same fundamental point. In that case, sureties filed an involuntary petition against the debtor. After the case became a chapter 7 proceeding and a trustee was appointed, the sureties sued a transferee of some of the debtor's assets in district court, alleging successor liability and conspiracy counts. The court affirmed judgment against the sureties for lack of standing, finding their claims to be "similar in object and purpose" to claims the trustee should bring on behalf of all creditors:

The bankruptcy court noted that the trustee has a potential fraudulent conveyance action to challenge the legality of the transaction between [the debtor and the transferee]. See 11 U.S.C. § 548. All of the Sureties' claims have this same focus. To make out their successor liability claim the Sureties rely heavily on exposing the [debtor/transferee] transaction to be fraudulent in fact. . . . Although the Sureties' claims and the trustee's fraudulent conveyance claim do not contain identical elements, they all share this same underlying focus. [Citing Litchfield.] The Sureties' causes of action are thus so similar in object and purpose to claims the trustee could bring in bankruptcy court that the Sureties lack standing to pursue these claims in district court. . . .

It is clear that the trustee should have the first crack at challenging the [debtor/transferee] transaction—the trustee's role is to bring suits such as these on behalf of all creditors. [Citing Steyr.]

187 F.3d at 441 (emphasis added). Accord Alvarez, 2012 WL 113567 at *5 (applying National American Insurance in holding that creditors' alter ego and breach of fiduciary duty claims were automatically stayed by section 362(a)(3)); Sterne Agee Group, 2015 WL 1651146 at *7 (applying National American Insurance in holding that creditors' successor liability claims were property of debtor's estate to be pursued by trustee).

As the Fourth Circuit emphasized in National American Insurance, “[t]o allow selected creditors to artfully plead their way out of bankruptcy court would unravel the bankruptcy process and undermine an ordered distribution of the bankruptcy estate.” 187 F.3d at 142 (citing Litchfield). Enforcing the automatic stay to prevent individual creditors from pursuing liability claims against non-debtors based on alter ego or successor liability theories is essential to provide the estate with control over the res available for distribution to all claimants. As the Second Circuit pointed out in Tronox, preserving the estate's control over such claims not only ensures a fair distribution of the res, but also promotes the efficient resolution of those causes of action, which are part of the res:

The whole point of channeling claims through bankruptcy is to avoid creditors getting ahead of others in line of preference and to promote an equitable distribution of debtor assets. [Citation omitted.] That is why, after a company files for bankruptcy, creditors lack standing to assert claims that are estate property. Instead, the trustee is conferred the right to recover for derivative, generalized claims; only the estate is charged with ensuring equitable distribution of estate assets and preventing individual creditors from pursuing their own interests and thus diminishing the res available to the rest of the creditors. Even more, it encourages, as it did here, orderly settlement—an interest not taken lightly.

855 F.3d at 106.

In this regard, it is noteworthy that, in several prior mass tort bankruptcy cases—including two in this Court—an official committee of creditors requested a bankruptcy court order affording it standing to bring—as the representative of the estate and on behalf and for the benefit of that estate—similar claims to impose liability, based on alter ego and successor liability theories, on non-debtor entities that were involved in pre-petition corporate transactions with the debtor.¹¹ As this Court is aware, the official committee of asbestos creditors in the DBMP case also recently sought (and was granted) such standing.

¹¹ In In re Garlock Sealing Techs., LLC, No. 10-31607 [Dkt. 2150] (Bankr. W.D.N.C. 2010), the asbestos claimants’ committee sought “Leave to Control and Prosecute Certain Claims as Estate Representatives” in order to challenge certain pre-bankruptcy restructuring transactions between one of the debtors and its affiliates. The committee’s proposed complaint on behalf of the estate included (in addition to counts for breach of fiduciary duty, conspiracy and fraudulent conveyances) a count XVII (“Successor Liability”) and a count XVIII (“Piercing the Corporate Veil”). Id. The debtors moved for authorization to enter into tolling agreements preserving such claims but delaying their prosecution. [Dkt. 2194]. After a hearing on both motions, the court approved the debtor’s entry into the proposed tolling agreements [Dkt. 2281] and denied the committee’s motion. [Dkt. 2292].

In In re Kaiser Gypsum Co., Inc., No. 16-31602 [Dkt. 1009] (Bankr. W.D.N.C. 2016), the unsecured creditors’ committee moved for standing to prosecute, on behalf of the estates, certain claims against non-debtor affiliates, including those for fraudulent conveyance, alter ego and successor liability. At a hearing, the court denied the standing motion and instead granted the debtors authority to enter into tolling agreements to preserve the alleged claims. [Dkt. 1154].

In In re Specialty Prods. Holding Corp., No. 10-11780 [Dkt. 1799] (Bankr. D. Del. 2010), the asbestos claimants’ committee sought standing to prosecute, on behalf of the estates, claims against non-debtor affiliates—including alter ego and fraudulent conveyance claims—related to the debtors’ pre-petition reorganization. While the court granted the committee standing to sue on behalf of the estates [Dkt. 4318], the committee never actually filed a complaint against the debtors’ affiliates.

The bottom line is that the Defendants here are in the same position as were the individual creditors in S.I. Acquisition, and Steyr, the bank in Litchfield, the former employees in Holcomb, the sureties in National American Insurance, the purchasers of empty lots in Alvarez, the retired partners in Coudert, the asbestos claimants in Keene, the diacetyl claimants in Emoral, and the toxic tort claimants in Tronox. Their successor liability and alter ego claims against the Non-Debtor Affiliates are based on facts and theories generally available to the Debtor's other creditors and are therefore automatically stayed by section 362(a)(3) because they are acts to exercise control over property of the Debtor's estate.

D. The Defendants' Fraudulent Transfer Claims Are Estate Property

Any fraudulent conveyance claims asserted by the Defendants in their lawsuits are property of the Debtor's estate. Section 541(a)(7) of the Bankruptcy Code states that the debtor's estate is also comprised of "[a]ny interest in property that the estate acquires after the commencement of case." 11 U.S.C. § 541(a)(7) (emphasis added). Section 544(b) of the Bankruptcy Code authorizes the trustee, after the bankruptcy case is filed, to bring on behalf of the estate the same fraudulent conveyance actions that individual creditors could bring under state law prior to the filing of the bankruptcy case. Because the trustee's claims under section 544(b) must be brought on behalf of the estate, those claims constitute property in which the estate acquires an interest "after the commencement of the case" and are therefore property of the debtor's estate under section 541(a)(7). As Judge Mullen has observed, "in the Fourth Circuit the rule is settled that Code § 362(a)(3) stays automatically—without a restraining order—a creditor's claim against a third-party that the debtor can assert for the benefit of the estate” and this rule “has been embraced by other courts” to include “actions to recover fraudulent transfers.” Litchfield, 135 B.R. at 803 n.4.¹²

III. THE COURT SHOULD EXERCISE ITS AUTHORITY UNDER SECTION 105(A) TO ENJOIN THE CONTINUATION OR COMMENCEMENT OF THE DEBTOR TALC CLAIMS AGAINST THE PROTECTED PARTIES.

A. The Court Has Authority to Enjoin the Pursuit of Debtor Talc Claims Against the Protected Parties.

Section 105(a) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that the Court “may issue any order, process, or judgment that is necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of [the Bankruptcy Code].” 11 U.S.C. § 105(a). This includes “ample power to enjoin actions excepted from the automatic stay which might interfere in the rehabilitative process” of a bankruptcy case. In re Johns-Manville Corp., 26 B.R. 420, 425, 436 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 1983) (citing 2 COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY § 362.05 (15th Ed.)), aff’d 40 B.R. 219 (S.D.N.Y. 1984), and appeal allowed, decision vacated in part on other grounds, 41 B.R. 926 (S.D.N.Y. 1984).

Under section 105(a), courts have broad authority “to enjoin parties other than the bankrupt from commencing or continuing litigation.” Robins, 788 F.2d at 1002 (quoting In re Otero Mills, Inc., 25 B.R. 1018, 1020 (D.N.M. 1982)).¹³ An injunction as to third-party litigation is appropriate where, among other things, the “failure to enjoin would [a]ffect the bankruptcy estate and would adversely or detrimentally influence and pressure the debtor through the third party.” Id. at 1003 (internal citation omitted).¹⁴ In such cases, an injunction allows the debtor to receive the benefits of the automatic stay imposed by section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code, which aims to:

protect the debtor from an uncontrollable scramble for its assets in a number of uncoordinated proceedings in different courts, to preclude one creditor from pursuing a remedy to the disadvantage of other creditors, and to provide the debtor and its executives with a reasonable respite from protracted litigation, during which they may have an opportunity to formulate a plan of reorganization for the debtor.

Robins, 788 F.2d at 998.

Acting under the broad authority granted by section 105(a), courts have consistently stayed claims against non-debtor entities, including a debtor’s affiliates, both in mass tort and non-mass tort bankruptcies, to maintain the integrity of the debtor’s estate and fully effectuate the protections of the automatic stay.¹⁵ In fact, to the Debtor’s knowledge, every court that has addressed the issue in the context of mass tort claims of a debtor asserted against non-debtor affiliates or insurers—including bankruptcy courts in this District (most recently in Aldrich, DBMP and Bestwall)—has recognized that such claims threaten the debtor’s prospects

B. The Preliminary Injunction Factors All Support Enjoining the Pursuit of Debtor Talc Claims Against the Protected Parties.

Courts considering the propriety of an injunction under section 105(a) typically apply the traditional four-pronged test for injunctions. See, e.g., Robins, 788 F.2d at 1008 (noting that the district court had applied the test for a grant of preliminary injunctive relief previously articulated by the Fourth Circuit, and upholding the grant of a preliminary injunction).¹⁷ The four elements, as tailored to a bankruptcy case, are:

1. The debtor's reasonable likelihood of a successful reorganization;
2. The imminent risk of irreparable harm to the debtor's estate in the absence of an injunction;
3. The balance of harms between the debtor and its creditors; and
4. Whether the public interest weighs in favor of an injunction.

Bestwall, 606 B.R. at 253; accord Unsecured Creditors' Comm. v. DeLorean (In re DeLorean Motor Co.), 755 F.2d 1223, 1228 (6th Cir. 1985); Excel Innovations, 502 F.3d at 1095–1100; In re Lyondell Chem. Co., 402 B.R. 571, 588–89 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2009).¹⁸ Under this test, each factor must be satisfied. Bestwall, 606 B.R. at 253 (citing Pashby v. Delia, 709 F.3d 307, 320 (4th Cir. 2013)).

Council, Inc., 555 U.S. 7, 20 (2008), which requires a plaintiff to “establish that he is likely to succeed on the merits, that he is likely to suffer irreparable harm in the absence of preliminary relief, that the balance of equities tips in his favor, and that an injunction is in the public interest”); Solidus Networks, Inc. v. Excel Innovations, Inc. (In re Excel Innovations, Inc.), 502 F.3d 1086, 1094 (9th Cir. 2007) (holding that traditional preliminary injunction standard applies to section 105(a) injunctions and stating that “[t]he majority of circuits that have reviewed injunctions staying actions against non-debtors have applied the usual preliminary injunction standard”) (internal citations omitted); In re W.R. Grace & Co., 412 B.R. 657, 665 (D. Del. 2009) (applying four-factor preliminary injunction test in an asbestos section 524(g) case); Bestwall, 606 B.R. at 253–58 (same).

M.D.N.C. 1987) (applying four-factor test in denying a motion to enjoin enforcement of state foreclosure action against individual debtor).

While courts typically consider all four elements, “the Fourth Circuit has made very clear that the critical, if not decisive, issue [in whether a section 105(a) injunction is warranted] is whether and to what extent the non-debtor litigation interferes with the debtors’ reorganization efforts.” Brier Creek, 486 B.R. at 694 (emphasis added) (citing Robins, 788 F.2d at 1003-09; Kreisler v. Goldberg (In re Kreisler), 478 F.2d 209, 215 (4th Cir. 2007)). The Fourth Circuit has repeatedly upheld preliminary injunctions where non-debtor litigation could interfere with the debtor’s reorganization efforts and, as such, has not held that application of the four-pronged test is necessary where such interference exists. See Brier Creek, 486 B.R. at 694-95 (discussing Fourth Circuit precedent).¹⁹ Here, the interference with the Debtor’s reorganization is sufficiently decisive to grant the injunction without applying the four-pronged test. In any case, as set forth below, the injunction is appropriate under the four-pronged test as well.

1. The Debtor’s Successful Reorganization Is Likely.

In bankruptcy proceedings, “success on the merits is to be evaluated in terms of the likelihood of a successful reorganization.” Bestwall, 606 B.R. at 254 (quoting Sudbury, Inc.

v. Escott, 140 B.R. 461, 466 (Bankr. N.D. Ohio 1992)).²⁰ This is not intended to be a particularly high standard where, as here, the attempted reorganization has just begun. See id.; see also In re Eagle-Picher Indus., Inc., 963 F.2d 855, 860 (6th Cir. 1992) (“In view of the bankruptcy court’s protection of [the debtor’s] reorganization efforts, it is implicit in its decision that it believed [the debtor] had some realistic possibility of successfully reorganizing under Chapter 11.”). Indeed, “at the early stages” of bankruptcy proceedings, the court “must make at least a rebuttable presumption that the [debtors] have made a good faith filing and are making a good faith effort to reorganize.” In re Gathering Rest., Inc., 79 B.R. 992, 1001 (Bankr. N.D. Ind. 1986); accord Bestwall, 606 B.R. at 254 (quoting Gathering, 79 B.R. at 1001).²¹

Here, the Debtor’s prospects for a successful reorganization are strong.

The Debtor has entered bankruptcy in good faith and in an effort to permanently, fully and equitably resolve current and future Debtor Talc Claims through the establishment of a trust. As courts have consistently recognized, the bankruptcy court is the most logical and best positioned forum for the resolution of mass tort liability. See In re Fed-Mogul Glob., Inc., 684 F.3d 355, 359 (3d Cir. 2012) (“Bankruptcy has proven an attractive alternative to the tort system for corporations [facing mass tort claims] because it permits a global resolution and discharge of current and future liability, while claimants’ interests are protected by the bankruptcy court’s power to use future earnings to compensate similarly situated tort claimants equitably.”); S. The Debtor’s aggregate value (not including insurance assets) is approximately $373.1 million and, to the extent its assets, including insurance, are insufficient, it has access to additional funds through the Funding Agreement. First Day Decl. ¶ 26. In addition, J&J and New JJCI have agreed to deposit $2 billion into a “qualified settlement fund” for the payment of current and future talc-related claims asserted against or related to the Debtor. Id. ¶ 28. The Debtor submits it will have sufficient assets to fund the Chapter 11 Case and a trust in the amount required by a confirmed plan of reorganization and there can be no dispute that the Debtor has the wherewithal to reorganize.

The Debtor also has favorable prospects for resolving the Debtor Talc Claims through a plan of reorganization that conforms with the requirements of the Bankruptcy Code. A number of similarly situated companies have successfully used bankruptcy to resolve mass tort claims, and the Debtor is committed to equitably resolving the Debtor Talc Claims. The Debtor seeks to engage in good faith negotiations to reach a consensual resolution of the Chapter 11 Case with representatives for current and future claimants as soon as they are in a position to begin discussions. Id. ¶ 60.

In short, the Debtor is likely to successfully reorganize through a plan of reorganization confirmed in accordance with the Bankruptcy Code. Accordingly, the Debtor’s prospects for successfully reorganizing strongly weigh in favor of the requested injunction.

2. Failure to Enjoin Litigation of Debtor Talc Claims Would Irreparably Harm the Debtor.

The Debtor and its estate will be irreparably harmed in several ways if the requested injunction is not issued. As described above, the Debtor filed the Chapter 11 Case to obtain a complete and equitable resolution of all current and future Debtor Talc Claims against it—an option that is not available in the tort system or anywhere else. As this Court recently indicated, it would defeat the purpose of the Chapter 11 Case if those claims continue to be prosecuted in the tort system, notwithstanding the Debtor’s bankruptcy case. See Aldrich Pump, 2021 WL 3729335, at *36 (“[P]rosecution of those same claims outside of this case would almost certainly end the Debtors’ reorganization efforts”).

(a) The Debtor’s Indemnification Obligations.

The Debtor has various indemnification or alleged indemnification obligations to the Protected Parties. First, the Debtor has contractual obligations to indemnify the Non-Debtor Affiliates pursuant to a merger support agreement in the event those companies are held liable for any Debtor Talc Claims. Second, the Debtor has, or is alleged to have, contractual indemnification obligations with, or other obligations to, the Retailers and Indemnified Parties relating to products sold by or otherwise associated with the Debtor and/or prior corporate transactions in which, in connection with the sale by a Debtor’s predecessor of certain assets, the Debtor’s predecessor undertook a contractual obligation to the buyer to indemnify it (or otherwise assume legal responsibility).

As an initial matter, continued prosecution of Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties would irreparably harm the Debtor because the Debtor has indemnity obligations that could make judgments against certain Protected Parties on those claims tantamount to judgments against the Debtor.²² In particular, the Debtor has an express contractual obligation to indemnify New JJCI and J&J in the event that either entity is held liable for any Debtor Talc Claims.²³

These indemnification obligations render the Debtor the real-party defendant in any suit against New JJCI, J&J or other Protected Parties. Continued litigation of those suits, therefore, would effectively eliminate the protections of the automatic stay. See Robins, 788 F.2d at 999 (noting obligation to indemnify between the debtor and non-debtor is the typical situation that gives rise to “such identity between [them]” as to make an injunction appropriate); 1008 (finding “no difficulty in sustaining the grant of a preliminary injunction” that enjoined tort system plaintiffs from proceeding against the debtor’s co-defendants, which included its insurer); Bestwall, 606 B.R. at 255 (“[A]n injunction is warranted because contractual and common law indemnification obligations would make the Debtor the real party in interest in any suit against New GP or other Protected Parties and effectively eliminate the protections of the automatic stay.”); Manville, 26 B.R. at 436 (enjoining “any proceeding against Manville’s insurers based on the alleged liability of Manville [or] its affiliates.”).²⁴

Absent the requested injunction, the Defendants could seek to liquidate the exact same talc claims that exist against the Debtor in the Chapter 11 Case through piecemeal litigation

²² Of course, because Old JJCI no longer exists and the Debtor is solely responsible for any Debtor Talc Claims, a judgment against Old JJCI for Debtor Talc Claims would necessarily constitute a judgment against the Debtor.

²³ Although the Funding Agreement with New JJCI and J&J serves as a backstop to ensure that the Debtor’s ability to pay the Debtor Talc Claims has not been diminished as compared to that of Old JJCI, the New JJCI and J&J indemnity claims nonetheless would affect the estate because the Debtor’s assets must be used first to fund a trust to pay these claims under a plan of reorganization.

²⁴ See also In re W.R. Grace & Co., No. 01-01139, 2004 WL 954772, at *4 (Bankr. D. Del. Apr. 29, 2004) (granting section 105 injunction due to indemnification obligations); Family Health Servs., 105 B.R. at 942-43 (same); In re Lomas Fin. Corp., 117 B.R. 64, 68 (S.D.N.Y. 1990) (affirming grant of preliminary injunction due to indemnification obligations).

against the Protected Parties outside of the Chapter 11 Case in the tort system. Moreover, permitting claimants to seek to indirectly establish claims against the Debtor through actions against third parties with indemnity rights would prevent the Debtor from establishing a trust to consolidate and collectively resolve all talc claims against the Debtor—current and future—through the Chapter 11 Case. This non-bankruptcy litigation, if not stayed, would undermine (or eliminate) the parties’ and the Court’s ability to achieve confirmation of a plan that treats all talc claimants fairly and equitably.

(b) Findings and Judgments in Litigation of Debtor Talc Claims Against the Protected Parties Might Bind the Debtor.

In addition to the risk of indirectly fixing Debtor Talc Claims against the Debtor through indemnity liability, the Debtor faces the risk that state court findings and judgments on the Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties could bind the Debtor and effectively establish Debtor Talc Claims against it, including through the doctrines of res judicata and collateral estoppel.²⁵ This risk is underscored by the fact that collateral estoppel has been applied offensively by litigants who were not parties to the prior litigation. See, e.g., Parklane Hosiery Co. v. Shore, 439 U.S. 322, 331 (1979) (allowing offensive use of collateral estoppel to prevent a corporation from defending against the stockholder class action of plaintiffs who were not parties to prior SEC litigation against the corporation). Talc claimants who have never before litigated their claims against the Debtor, or against the Protected Parties, might seek to establish liability against the Debtor simply by pointing to a prior judgment on a Debtor Talc Claim against a Protected Party.²⁶

Under these circumstances, the Debtor could not stand idly by as liability is effectively established against it by Defendants in collateral proceedings. Rather, the Debtor would be required to actively involve itself in, and defend the litigation, of Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties, even as it attempts simultaneously to move forward with its goal of reorganizing to address these very same claims.

Courts consistently have concluded that the risks of collateral estoppel and res judicata warrant a stay of third-party litigation that would thwart the purposes of the automatic stay. Bestwall, 606 B.R. at 256 (determining that the risks posed by the doctrines of res judicata and collateral estoppel, among other factors, warrant a preliminary injunction of litigation against non-debtor affiliates); Sudbury, 140 B.R. at 463 (granting injunctive relief after finding that debtor's liability "may be determined on collateral estoppel principles [by fact determinations reached on the same fact issues] in Plaintiffs' actions" against non-debtors); Manville, 26 B.R. at 429 (concluding that the risk of collateral estoppel would irreparably injure the estate and, thus, issuance of a stay of claims against non-debtors was warranted); In re Am. Film Techs., Inc., 175 B.R. at 850–55 (staying claims against debtor's directors and holding that a potential finding of liability against such directors would be based on acts undertaken by directors as agents of the debtor and therefore would expose the debtor to the risk of being collaterally estopped from denying liability for the directors' actions).

²⁶ Plaintiffs have sued J&J and certain of its officers and directors in United States District Court in the District of New Jersey, alleging securities violations based on a failure to disclose the purported dangers associated with Johnson's Baby Powder and other talc-containing products. Because the lawsuit raises issues about the safety of Old JJCI's products, which issues are central to this Chapter 11 Case, the Debtor may seek to enjoin the action pursuant to a separate complaint.

The same concerns warrant a stay in this case. If allowed to pursue the Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties, the Defendants would litigate the same key facts—involving the same products, the same time periods, and the same alleged injuries—related to the talc liabilities of Old JJCI that are at issue with respect to the Debtor Talc Claims asserted against the Debtor. Supp. Kim Decl. ¶ 17. Accordingly, any rulings or findings regarding the Debtor Talc Claims asserted against the Protected Parties may bind the Debtor with respect to those same claims. This would frustrate the Debtor’s efforts to resolve the Debtor Talc Claims in the Chapter 11 Case, and would undermine the effect of the automatic stay.

Beyond the potential consequences of collateral estoppel and res judicata, litigation of the Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties would allow parties to use statements, testimony and other evidence generated in those proceedings to try to establish Debtor Talc Claims against the Debtor. Id.

The burden of protecting against evidentiary prejudice was part of the justification for granting the injunctive relief both in Bestwall and Manville. See Bestwall, 606 B.R. at 256 (“Litigation of the Bestwall Asbestos Claims against the Protected Parties will create the additional risk that statement, testimony, and other evidence generated in proceedings against the Protected Parties will be used to try to establish Bestwall Asbestos Claims against the Debtor.”).

The Manville court there explained the danger as follows:

[O]nce a witness has testified to a fact, or what sounds like a fact, that witness may be confronted with his prior testimony under oath in a future proceeding directly involving Manville, whether or not Manville was a party to the record on which the initial testimony was taken. Once an admission against interest is made, under oath or otherwise, by the agent of a party, that admission stands for all time. No matter what [Manville’s co-defendant] may stipulate, the thousands of other claimants and cross-claimants who are after Manville's assets, would be entitled to use the product of such discovery.

In re Johns-Manville Corp., 40 B.R. at 225; see also W.R. Grace & Co., 386 B.R. at 34 (granting injunction based, among other things, on the possibility that "record taint" in actions against non-debtors would compel the debtors' participation and impair the reorganization effort).

The Debtor may be compelled to defend its interest in pending litigation against the Protected Parties to prevent such harm to its estate, thereby defeating the "breathing spell" intended by the automatic stay. Supp. Kim Decl. ¶ 18. These are consequences that the Debtor should not be required to suffer or be compelled to protect against.

3. The Irreparable Harm that the Debtor Would Suffer in the Absence of an Injunction Substantially Outweighs Any Prejudice to the Defendants.

As described above, the Debtor would suffer substantial and irreversible harm if injunctive relief is not granted. Prosecution of Debtor Talc Claims outside of this Court may liquidate claims against the Debtor and bind the Debtor with respect to rulings, judgments and evidentiary records established in those cases. It would also compromise the protections of the automatic stay. In short, the entire purpose of the Chapter 11 Case would be thwarted. See Bestwall, 606 B.R. at 257 ("The very purpose of the Debtor's Chapter 11 case would be defeated if litigation of the Bestwall Asbestos Claims against the Protected Parties is permitted."). One of the overriding goals of the bankruptcy process is to ensure that all similarly situated claims are evaluated and treated in a uniform manner. That goal would be compromised if claimants could seek to liquidate and collect Debtor Talc Claims outside of the Chapter 11 Case.

Talc claimants also may be prejudiced if the Court does not issue an injunction. Through litigation against the Protected Parties, holders of current Debtor Talc Claims could receive recoveries on those claims that differ from the recoveries that would be realized by other current or future claimants through a court-approved trust. Further, litigation, particularly personal injury litigation, generally requires extensive discovery, involves numerous parties and presents complicated questions of causation. Such litigation is rarely efficient and often goes on for many years. By contrast, a trust established by the Debtor in the Chapter 11 Case would “provide all claimants—including future claimants who have yet to institute litigation—with an efficient means through which to equitably resolve their claims.” Bestwall, 606 B.R. at 257.²⁷ Continued prosecution of claims against the Protected Parties would thwart the Debtor’s ability to resolve its talc liabilities through a bankruptcy trust, eliminating any possibility of a more efficient means of recovery to current and future talc claimants.

In contrast, the prejudice caused to the Defendants by an injunction would be minimal, to the extent it would exist at all.²⁸ The issuance of an injunction will not permanently deprive the Defendants of an opportunity to pursue the Debtor Talc Claims. Instead, it will merely halt those alleged claims, giving the Debtor time to reach consensus on a plan of reorganization. Thus, the requested injunction will do nothing more than place claimants that seek to litigate the Debtor Talc Claims outside of this Court in their appropriate position: alongside all other claimants who, through court-appointed representatives, are working with the

Debtor to establish a trust that equitably treats and pays all current and future Debtor Talc Claims.²⁹

Even if this Court assumes that an injunction might cause delay for some Defendants, “it is well established that mere delay is insufficient to prevent the issuance of an injunction.” Bestwall, 606 B.R. at 257; see also In re United Health Care Org., 210 B.R. 228, 234 (S.D.N.Y. 1997) (finding that delay to the enjoined party from pursuing remedies was heavily outweighed by potential harm to reorganization efforts).³⁰ Otherwise, an injunction could never be issued, as an injunction by definition involves delay. Further, “the harm from any delay to some Defendants is far outweighed by the greater harm that failure to issue the injunction would cause the Debtor’s reorganization efforts. The entire purpose of this proceeding would be defeated absent the requested injunction.” Bestwall, 606 B.R. at 257.

Finally, the Defendants cannot establish harm based on speculation that an injunction could affect the ultimate payment of their claims. As set forth above, the Debtor’s value is approximately $373.1 million in addition to insurance rights and the Funding Agreement with New JJCI and J&J. First Day Decl. ¶ 26. Among other things, the Funding Agreement will ensure funding for a trust in the amount required by a confirmed plan of reorganization, to the extent the Debtor’s other assets (including insurance) are insufficient to fund the trust. In

4. Injunctive Relief Will Further the Public Interest by Ensuring the Debtor’s Successful Reorganization and Equitable Treatment of Defendants.

Courts consistently have recognized the public interest in a successful reorganization. See, e.g., United States v. Whiting Pools, Inc., 462 U.S. 198, 204 (1983); Sudbury, 140 B.R. at 465. As one bankruptcy judge observed: “[P]romoting a successful reorganization is one of the most important public interests.” In re Gander Partners LLC, 432 B.R. 781, 789 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 2010) (quoting In re Integrated Health Servs., Inc., 281 B.R. 231, 239 (Bankr. D. Del. 2002)); see also Manville, 26 B.R. at 428 (“[T]he goal of removing all obstacles to plan formulation [is] eminently praiseworthy and [this court] supports every lawful effort to foster this goal while protecting the due process rights of all constituencies.”).

A successful reorganization particularly serves the public interest in the mass tort context, where “completing the reorganization process . . . [will] resolv[e] thousands of claims in a uniform and equitable manner.” W.R. Grace & Co., 386 B.R. at 36 (extending injunction to cover a non-debtor affiliate railroad that transported products of the debtor). It is in the public interest that “the bankruptcy process [is] utilized to the fullest extent” to resolve claims against the Debtor—a result made possible by a comprehensive injunction. Id.

It also is in the public interest to promote justice in the court system through the equitable treatment of all holders of current and future Debtor Talc Claims. Inconsistent judgments are not a desirable means of resolving a dispute with nationwide implications. In re Dow Corning I, 211 B.R. at 588 (“[I]t is anything but just when presenting the identical proofs, one plaintiff suffering nearly identical injuries or illness[] wins a multimillion dollar verdict against a defendant while another takes nothing.”). The Debtor respectfully submits that an equitable outcome can only be achieved in this Court, by utilizing bankruptcy-specific tools geared towards encouraging efficient and fair resolution of liabilities. See In re Congoleum Corp., 362 B.R. 198, 201 (Bankr. D.N.J. 2007) (“Section 524 was created to provide a comprehensive resolution to asbestos liabilities both present and future.”). Allowing the Debtor Talc Claims to proceed in the tort system, however, would undermine public interests by allowing for different recoveries for similarly situated claimants.

Further, permitting Debtor Talc Claims to continue against the Protected Parties would jeopardize the very purpose of the Debtor’s Chapter 11 Case. Without the requested relief, the Debtor would not benefit from a reprieve of litigation to focus on its reorganization. Undermining the Chapter 11 Case in this way also undermines the public interest. The Debtor and the Protected Parties are not seeking to “escape” any talc liabilities through the injunctive relief requested herein or through the Chapter 11 Case. They fully understand that all liability arising out of the Debtor Talc Claims will be “resolved and channeled only if [the Debtor] succeeds in confirming a plan of reorganization that contains a channeling injunction that extends to the Protected Parties.” Bestwall, 606 B.R. at 258. The Court and parties in interest, however, will be unable to comprehensively and equitably resolve all Debtor Talc Claims in the Chapter 11 Case without the requested injunctive relief.

As described above, each of the four factors clearly weighs in favor of this Court issuing a preliminary injunction prohibiting the Defendants from commencing or prosecuting Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties.

IV. THE COURT SHOULD GRANT A TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER TO EFFECTUATE THE RELIEF SOUGHT BY THE DEBTOR PENDING A FINAL HEARING.

The Debtor requests that this Court immediately, and with limited notice, enter a temporary restraining order to preserve the effectiveness of the automatic stay until this Court has the opportunity to hold a final hearing on the merits. The Court has authority to issue a temporary restraining order pursuant to Rule 65(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure (the “Civil Rules”), which is made applicable to this adversary proceeding by Bankruptcy Rule 7065. Civil Rule 65(b) provides:

The court may issue a temporary restraining order without written or oral notice to the adverse party or its attorney only if: (A) specific facts in an affidavit or a verified complaint clearly show that immediate and irreparable injury, loss, or damage will result to the movant before the adverse party can be heard in opposition; and (B) the movant’s attorney certifies in writing any efforts made to give notice and the reasons why it should not be required.

Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(b).³¹ A temporary restraining order is properly granted where it is necessary to prevent immediate and irreparable injury pending a hearing upon a motion for an injunction. 13 Moore’s Federal Practice § 65.36 (2019).

The facts presented here satisfy the requirements for a temporary restraining order. Almost immediately after the Petition Date, counsel for numerous plaintiffs stated their intent to assert Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties, including J&J, Old JJCI and Retailers. Permitting plaintiffs to pursue the Protected Parties threatens to harm the Debtor’s interests by fixing claims against the estate or otherwise binding the Debtor with respect to talc claims against it. Supp. Kim Decl. ¶ 17. Without immediate injunctive relief, the Debtor will be compelled to pull key estate resources away from its reorganization efforts to focus on that ongoing litigation, hampering the Debtor's reorganization from the outset. A denial of the Debtor's request for a temporary restraining order pending a final hearing on the Debtor's request for declaratory and/or injunctive relief would cause the very harm that the Debtor seeks to prevent by the Motion and the Complaint.

As described above, the commencement or continued prosecution of the Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties risks significant, immediate and irreversible harm to the Debtor and its estate. The Debtor will be compelled to actively monitor, participate in and defend the currently pending and threatened Debtor Talc Claims, notwithstanding the automatic stay, to limit the risks they pose to the estate. On a daily basis, obligations arise and deadlines are imposed in those cases that already have been filed, including in connection with depositions, court appearances and discovery requests. Id. ¶ 18. Addressing these matters will require the time and attention of key Debtor personnel, diverting estate resources away from reorganization efforts. These negative effects on the Debtor's estate will only compound as new Debtor Talc Claims are filed against the Protected Parties. Id. ¶ 19.

It is appropriate for the Court to grant the relief requested by this Motion with limited notice to the Defendants. The Debtor cannot realistically provide effective notice to the many named plaintiffs who have sued or may sue the Protected Parties in the short period of time in which this Court's action is needed. Moreover, notice of this Motion and the Complaint may further exacerbate the very rush-to-the-courthouse created by the notice of the bankruptcy filing, which a temporary restraining order is necessary to further prevent. Id. ¶ 20; In re Vuitton et fils S.A., 606 F.2d 1, 5 (2d Cir. 1979) (notice of temporary restraining order action not required when notice would defeat purposes of the action); see also Am. Can Co. v. Mansukhani, 742 F.2d 314, 322 (7th Cir. 1984) (citing with approval Vuitton, 606 F.2d at 5). Further, Defendants John and Jane Does 1-1000 are putative plaintiffs for future talc actions against the Protected Parties and are unknown at this time. The Debtor's sole means of notifying these plaintiffs is through publication. First Tech. Safety Sys., Inc. v. Depinet, 11 F.3d 641, 650 (6th Cir. 1993) ("The normal circumstance for which the district court would be justified in proceeding ex parte is where notice to the adverse party is impossible, as in the cases where the adverse party is unknown or is unable to be found."). Supp. Kim Decl. ¶ 20.

Bankruptcy courts in similar mass tort chapter 11 cases—including bankruptcy courts in this District—have issued temporary restraining orders enjoining litigation as to third parties to avoid any immediate and irreparable harm to the debtor or its estate. See, e.g., In re Aldrich Pump LLC, No. 20-30608 (JCW), Adv. Pro. 20-3041 (JCW) (Bankr. W.D.N.C. June 25, 2020); In re DBMP LLC, No. 20-30080 (JCW), Adv. Pro. No. 20-3004 (JCW) (Bankr. Jan. 29, 2020); In re Bestwall LLC, No. 17-31795 (LTB), Adv. No. 17-03105 (LTB) (Bankr. W.D.N.C. Nov. 8, 2017); In re Kaiser Gypsum Co., No. 16-31602 (JCW), Adv. No. 16-03313 (JCW) (Bankr. W.D.N.C. Oct. 7, 2016); In re Garlock Sealing Techs., LLC, No. 10-31607 (JCW), Adv. No. 10-03145 (JCW) (Bankr. W.D.N.C. June 7, 2010).³² Under the circumstances here, as in these other cases, immediate injunctive relief is required to safeguard the Debtor's prospects for a successful reorganization.

Although temporary restraining orders generally are limited to 14 days, before that period expires and for good cause, this Court may extend its order for an additional 14 days. Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(b)(2). The Debtor requests that the Court (a) for good cause, enter a temporary restraining order extending for the maximum period allowed under Civil Rule 65 — 28 days; and (b) set a hearing on this Motion on or before that date. This will allow more parties in interest to participate in the hearing on the requested relief. Granting such relief also will conserve time and resources for the Court and the Debtor's estate.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons discussed above, the Debtor requests that the Court enter an order declaring that the filing or continued prosecution of the Debtor Talc Claims against any of the Protected Parties while the Chapter 11 Case remains pending violates the automatic stay. The Debtor also respectfully requests that the Court enter an order preliminarily enjoining the filing or continued prosecution of Debtor Talc Claims (on any theory of liability) against any of the Protected Parties while the Debtor's Chapter 11 Case remains pending.³³ A proposed form of order granting the Debtor's request for injunctive or declaratory relief is attached hereto as Exhibit A.

Further, the Debtor respectfully requests that the Court enter an order, substantially in the form attached hereto as Exhibit B, temporarily restraining the Defendants from filing or continuing to prosecute any Debtor Talc Claim against any of the Protected Parties until the Court has had an opportunity to hold a final hearing on the merits.

³³ This injunction would include, without limitation: (a) the pursuit of discovery from the Protected Parties or their officers, directors, employees or agents; (b) the enforcement of any discovery order against the Protected Parties; (c) further motions practice related to the foregoing and (d) any collection activity on account of a Debtor Talc Claim against any Protected Party or its officers, directors, employees or agents or its respective assets.

ORDER GRANTING THE DEBTOR'S REQUEST FOR PRELIMINARY INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

This matter coming before the Court on the Complaint for Declaratory and Injunctive Relief (I) Declaring That the Automatic Stay Applies to Certain Actions Against

Non-Debtors or (II) Preliminarily Enjoining Such Actions and (III) Granting a Temporary Restraining Order Pending a Final Hearing (the “Complaint”) and the Debtor’s Motion for an Order (I) Declaring that the Automatic Stay Applies to Certain Actions Against Non-Debtors or (II) Preliminarily Enjoining Such Actions and (III) Granting a Temporary Restraining Order Pending a Final Hearing (the “Motion”),² both filed by the above-captioned plaintiff and debtor (the “Debtor”); the Court having reviewed (a) the Complaint, (b) the Motion, (c) the Supplemental Declaration of John K. Kim in Support of Debtor’s Complaint for Declaratory and Injunctive Relief and Related Motions (the “Supplemental Kim Declaration”) and (d) the Declaration of John K. Kim in Support of First Day Pleadings [Dkt. 5] (the “First Day Declaration”) filed in the Debtor’s main chapter 11 case, together with any responses or answers to the Motion or the Complaint; and having heard the arguments of counsel and considered the evidence presented at a hearing on October 22, 2021 (the “Hearing”), the Court finds and concludes as follows:

Background, Jurisdiction and Venue

A. For purposes of this Order, the term “Debtor Talc Claims” shall mean, collectively, any talc-related claims against the Debtor, including all claims relating in any way to talc or talc-containing materials that formerly were asserted against (or that could have been asserted against) the former Johnson & Johnson Consumer Inc. (“Old JJCI”) on any theory of liability (whether direct, derivative, joint and several, successor liability, vicarious liability, fraudulent or voidable transfer or conveyance, alter ego or otherwise). For the avoidance of doubt, Debtor Talc Claims include, without limitation, all talc personal injury claims and other talc-related claims allocated to the Debtor from Old JJCI in the documents implementing the

² Capitalized terms not otherwise defined herein have the meanings given to them in the Motion.

2021 Corporate Restructuring. The Debtor Talc Claims do not include talc-related claims for which the exclusive remedy is provided under workers' compensation statutes and similar laws.

B. The Plaintiff in this adversary proceeding is Debtor LTL Management LLC. The Defendants in this adversary proceeding are those parties listed on Appendix A to the Complaint, as well as John and Jane Does 1-1000. The Defendants listed on Appendix A are all named plaintiffs in talc-related lawsuits against the Debtor (or for which the Debtor is responsible or alleged responsible) as of the Petition Date who sought to hold, or may seek to hold, the Protected Parties liable for the Debtor Talc Claims. The Protected Parties are listed in Appendix B to the Complaint, which is also attached to this Order. Defendants John and Jane Does 1-1000 are prospective plaintiffs who may at any time while the above-captioned chapter 11 case is pending seek to hold the Protected Parties liable for the Debtor Talc Claims.

C. The Debtor seeks, pursuant to sections 105 and 362 of the Bankruptcy Code, an order prohibiting the Defendants from continuing or commencing against any of the Protected Parties any action or claim asserting, on any theory of liability (whether direct, derivative, joint and several, successor liability, vicarious liability, fraudulent or voidable transfer or conveyance, alter ego or otherwise), any Debtor Talc Claims.

D. The Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334. This is a core proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2). Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 7008, the Debtor has consented to the entry of final orders or a final judgment by this Court in this adversary proceeding. Venue for this matter is proper in this District pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1409.

Request for Declaratory Relief

E. The Court finds and concludes that Debtor Talc Claims against Old JJCI are actions that are “against the debtor” or that seek to “recover a claim against the debtor” within the meaning of section 362(a)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code.

F. The Court further finds and concludes that Debtor Talc Claims against Protected Parties asserting fraudulent transfer or voidable transfer or conveyance claims, or alter ego, successor liability, vicarious liability or other theories of recovery through which Defendants would seek to assert Debtor Talc Claims against a Protected Party constitute property of the Debtor’s estate, as would the assertion of actions against the Insurers on account of Debtor Talc Claims. Section 362(a)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code applies to stay such actions while the Chapter 11 Case remains pending.

G. The Court further finds and concludes that Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties are inherently intertwined with talc-related claims against the Debtor, such that the Debtor is the real-party defendant to any such claims. Therefore, application or extension of the automatic stay of section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code to Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties while the Chapter 11 Case remains pending is warranted because those actions or claims are “against the debtor” or seek “to recover a claim against the debtor” within the meaning of section 362(a)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code.

H. The legal and factual bases set forth in the Complaint, the Motion, the Supplemental Kim Declaration, the First Day Declaration and at the Hearing establish just cause for the relief granted herein.

Request for Preliminary Injunction

I. The Debtor has satisfied the four-prong test for the issuance of a preliminary injunction applied in the Fourth Circuit.

J. Likelihood of Success on the Merits. There is a reasonable likelihood that the Debtor will succeed on the merits by successfully reorganizing in chapter 11, including by confirming a plan that will establish a trust pursuant to sections 105 and/or 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code to resolve the Debtor Talc Claims. The Debtor has filed its chapter 11 case (the “Chapter 11 Case”) in good faith, and it intends to engage in good-faith negotiations with representatives for current and future claimants regarding a plan of reorganization. The Debtor has sufficient resources to fund the costs of the Chapter 11 Case and implement a plan of reorganization that includes a trust pursuant to sections 105 and/or 524(g).

K. Irreparable Injury. Failure to enjoin prosecution of the Debtor Talc Claims in the tort system would cause irreparable injury to the Debtor and defeat the purpose of the Chapter 11 Case. Without the injunctive relief sought herein, the Debtor would suffer the following irreparable harm:

- i) Recoveries against the Protected Parties could trigger the Debtor’s indemnification obligations, reduce available insurance, and have the effect of fixing talc-related claims against the Debtor outside of the Chapter 11 Case;
- ii) Under the doctrines of collateral estoppel and res judicata, the resolution of issues in litigation of Debtor Talc Claims against New JJCI, J&J or other Protected Parties could bind the Debtor;
- iii) Statements, testimony and other evidence generated in litigation of Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties could be used to try to establish the Debtor’s own liability for the exact same talc-related claims; and
- iv) As a result of the foregoing, the Debtor would be compelled to actively monitor, participate in and defend litigation of Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties, and key personnel would be diverted from assisting the Debtor in achieving its reorganization goals.

L. Balance of the Harms. The balance of harms supports granting the preliminary injunction on account of the following factors:

- i) The purpose of the Debtor's Chapter 11 Case would be defeated if the litigation of Debtor Talc Claims were allowed to proceed against the Protected Parties;
- ii) Failure to grant injunctive relief would cause irreparable harm to the Debtor and its estate, as described in paragraph K, above;
- iii) An injunction will not necessarily harm the Defendants or their efforts to obtain compensation for their claims.
 - a) First, nothing about the injunction in this case would prohibit the Defendants from continuing to proceed against, and collecting from, any other alleged tortfeasors in state court (other than the Protected Parties); and
 - b) In addition, the injunction will ensure that the benefits of a complete and equitable resolution of talc-related claims against the Debtor flow to all claimants. Ultimately, the Chapter 11 Case should provide both existing and future claimants with an efficient and expedited means by which to address their claims through a trust; and
- iv) Delay, in and of itself, is insufficient to overcome irreparable harm caused to the Debtor and its estate.

M. Public Interest. The public interest lies with the Debtor completing its reorganization process and resolving the Debtor Talc Claims in a uniform and equitable manner.

Based on these findings and conclusions, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

1. The Motion is GRANTED.
2. The Defendants are prohibited and enjoined, pursuant to sections 105 and 362 of the Bankruptcy Code, from commencing or continuing to prosecute any Debtor Talc Claim against any of the Protected Parties, on any theory of liability, whether direct, derivative, joint and several, successor liability, vicarious liability, fraudulent or voidable transfer or conveyance, alter ego or otherwise, for the period this Order is effective pursuant to paragraph 11, below. This injunction includes, without limitation: (a) the pursuit of discovery from the Protected Parties or their officers, directors, employees or agents; (b) the enforcement of any discovery order against the Protected Parties; (c) further motions practice related to the foregoing; and (d) any collection activity on account of a Debtor Talc Claim against any Protected Party or its officers, directors, employees or agents or its respective assets.

3. In addition, and without limiting the foregoing, the Court finds and declares that the commencement or continued prosecution of any Debtor Talc Claim against any of the Protected Parties while the Chapter 11 Case remains pending, including the actions listed in the last sentence of paragraph , above, would violate the automatic stay imposed by sections 362(a)(1) and 362(a)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code and therefore are prohibited.

4. This Order is entered without prejudice to the Debtor's right to request that this Court extend this Order to include other entities or persons not previously identified in Appendix A or Appendix B to the Complaint. In the event that the Debtor seeks to supplement either Appendix A or Appendix B, the Debtor shall file with the Court and serve a notice, together with a proposed order, setting forth any such modifications to Appendix A or Appendix B. Parties shall have 14 days from the date of service of the notice to object to the modification(s) to Appendix A or Appendix B, and the Debtor shall have 7 days from the service of such objection to file and serve a response. Absent a timely objection, the Debtor's proposed modifications to Appendix A or Appendix B shall be approved by order of the Court without the necessity of a hearing. For the avoidance of doubt, the inclusion of a talc-related claim on Appendix A is not an admission that such Defendant holds a currently pending claim against either the Debtor or the Protected Parties.

5. Any party subject to this Order may seek relief from any of the provisions of this Order for cause shown. This Order is without prejudice to the Debtor's or others' rights to seek relief pursuant to section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code.

6. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Order, any party asserting Debtor Talc Claims, without leave of the Court, may take reasonable steps to perpetuate the testimony of any person subject to this Order who is not expected to survive the duration of this Order or who otherwise is expected to be unable to provide testimony if it is not perpetuated during the duration of this Order. Notice shall be provided to the Debtor by notifying counsel for the Debtor of the perpetuation of such testimony. The Debtor shall have the right to object to the notice on any grounds it would have had if it were a party to the underlying proceeding and not subject to the terms of this preliminary injunction, and the Debtor may raise any such objection with this Court. The use of such testimony in any appropriate jurisdiction shall be subject to the applicable procedural and evidentiary rules of such jurisdiction. All parties reserve and do not waive any and all objections with respect to such testimony. Defendants or other individuals asserting Debtor Talc Claims may not seek to perpetuate the testimony of representatives, including directors, officers, employees and agents, of the Debtor or the Protected Parties without the consent of the Debtor or an order of the Court. Notwithstanding the forgoing, parties in lawsuits pending in the MDL who wish to perpetuate the testimony of any person subject to this Order who is not expected to survive the duration of this Order or who otherwise is expected to be unable to provide testimony if it is not perpetuated during the duration of this Order shall comply with the process outlined in the In Extremis Deposition Protocol entered on January 23, 2017 in the MDL.

7. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 7065, the Debtor is relieved from posting any security pursuant to Civil Rule 65(c).

8. This Order shall be immediately effective and enforceable upon its entry.

9. This Order shall toll any applicable non-bankruptcy law, any order entered in a non-bankruptcy proceeding, or any agreement that fixes a period under which an enjoined Defendant is required to commence or continue a civil action in a court other than this Court on any Debtor Talc Claim asserted against the Debtor or any of the Protected Parties until the later of: (a) the end of such period, including any suspension of such period occurring on or after the commencement of the case; or (b) 30 days after notice of the termination or expiration of the preliminary injunction issued by this Order.

10. The Debtor shall cause a copy of this Order to be served via e-mail, facsimile, hand delivery or overnight carrier on counsel for the known Defendants and the Bankruptcy Administrator within three business days of its entry on the Court's docket.

11. This Order shall be promptly filed in the Clerk of Court's office and entered into the record, and it shall remain effective for the period through and including 30 days after the effective date of a confirmed plan of reorganization in the Chapter 11 Case that is no longer subject to appeal or discretionary review.

12. This Court retains exclusive jurisdiction over this Order and any and all matters arising from or relating to the implementation, interpretation or enforcement of this Order.

This Order has been signed electronically.

For the avoidance of doubt, Debtor Talc Claims include, without limitation, all talc personal injury claims and other talc-related claims allocated to the Debtor from Old JJCI in the documents implementing the 2021 Corporate Restructuring

² Capitalized terms not otherwise defined herein have the meanings given to them in the Motion.

— e.g., all talc personal injury claims and other talc-related claims arising in whole or in any part from, or otherwise in any manner relating to, any conduct, action or failure to act of Old JJCI.

B. The Plaintiff in this adversary proceeding is Debtor LTL Management LLC. The Defendants in this adversary proceeding are all named plaintiffs in the talc-related lawsuits against the Debtor (or for which the Debtor is responsible or alleged responsible) listed on Appendix A to the Complaint, as well as John and Jane Does 1-1000. The actions listed on Appendix A are all lawsuits that were either allocated to the Debtor in the 2021 Corporate Restructuring or otherwise asserted against the Debtor prior to the Petition Date. The Protected Parties are listed in Appendix B to the Complaint, which is also attached to this Order. Defendants John and Jane Does 1-1000 are prospective plaintiffs who may at any time while the above-captioned chapter 11 case is pending seek to hold the Protected Parties liable for the Debtor Talc Claims.

C. The Debtor seeks, pursuant to Rule 65(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure (the “Civil Rules”) and Rule 7065 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the “Bankruptcy Rules”), a temporary restraining order prohibiting the Defendants from continuing or commencing against any of the Protected Parties any action or claim asserting, on any theory of liability (whether direct, derivative, joint and several, successor liability, vicarious liability, fraudulent or voidable transfer or conveyance, alter ego, or otherwise), any Debtor Talc Claims.

D. The Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334. This is a core proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2). Venue for this matter is proper in this District pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1409.

Request for Temporary Restraining Order

E. A denial of the Debtor's request for a temporary restraining order pending a final hearing on the Debtor's request for injunctive and/or declaratory relief would cause the very harm that the Debtor seeks to prevent by the Motion and the Complaint. Without immediate injunctive relief, it is expected that: (1) many Defendants who already have asserted Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties will attempt to continue prosecuting such claims outside of the Debtor's chapter 11 case (the "Chapter 11 Case"); (2) many Defendants who have sued only the Debtor will seek to amend their complaints to name one or more of the Protected Parties and prosecute Debtor Talc Claims against those Protected Parties outside of the Chapter 11 Case; (3) many Defendants will seek to amend their complaints to add new causes of action against the Protected Parties in an effort to proceed with litigation against the Protected Parties outside of the Chapter 11 Case; and (4) Defendants John and Jane Does 1-1000 will file Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties but not the Debtor. The commencement or continued prosecution of the Debtor Talc Claims against Protected Parties risks significant, immediate and irreversible harm to the Debtor and its estate because: (1) the Debtor has contractual obligations to indemnify Protected Parties for any liability on account of the Debtor Talc Claims and assertion of Debtor Talc Claims against the Insurers would seek to obtain property of the Debtor's estate, (2) findings and judgment in litigation of Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties could bind the Debtor, (3) litigation of the Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties will prejudice the Debtor's interests, and (4) litigation of Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties would divert key personnel from the Debtor's reorganization efforts. Accordingly, the Debtor has demonstrated that it will suffer "immediate and irreparable injury, loss, or damage” in the absence of immediate relief before any adverse party can be heard in opposition. Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(b).

F. On a daily basis, depositions are occurring, court appearances are scheduled and answers are coming due in cases asserting Debtor Talc Claims. If Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties are permitted to proceed pending a final hearing on the Debtor’s request for injunctive or declaratory relief, the Debtor will be compelled to actively monitor, participate in and defend currently pending and additional threatened Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties, notwithstanding the automatic stay, to guard against, among other things, potential indemnity claims, evidentiary prejudice and the risks of collateral estoppel and res judicata. In doing so, key personnel will be diverted from assisting the Debtor in achieving its reorganization goals.

G. Regardless of its diligence, the Debtor cannot realistically provide effective notice to the many named plaintiffs that have commenced or may commence Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties in the short period of time in which this Court’s action is needed. Moreover, notice itself is likely to precipitate the assertion of additional Debtor Talc Claims against the Protected Parties. This temporary restraining order is requested, and, the Court finds is required, to prevent that result.

H. Further, service on John and Jane Does 1-1000 is impossible because these individuals are putative plaintiffs for future talc actions against the Protected Parties and are unknown at this time.

I. Accordingly, this Court finds it appropriate to enter a temporary restraining order with limited notice to the Defendants pursuant to Civil Rule 65(b)(1) and Bankruptcy Rule 7065.

J. To allow more parties in interest, including an appointed Talc Committee, to participate in the hearing on the requested relief and to conserve time and resources, this Court finds good cause for an extension and will enter a temporary restraining order extending for the maximum period allowed under Civil Rule 65 — 28 days — and set a hearing on the Motion and the Complaint on or before that date.

K. The legal and factual bases set forth in the Motion, the Complaint, the Supplemental Kim Declaration, the First Day Declaration and at the Hearing establish just cause for the relief granted herein.

Based on these findings and conclusions, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

1. The Motion is GRANTED with respect to its request for a temporary restraining order, as provided herein.
2. The Defendants are prohibited and enjoined from commencing or continuing to prosecute any Debtor Talc Claim against any of the Protected Parties on any theory of liability, whether direct, derivative, joint and several, successor liability, vicarious liability, fraudulent or voidable transfer or conveyance, alter ego or otherwise, through and including 28 days from the date of entry of this Order, during which time the Court will hold a hearing on the Debtor's request for injunctive and/or declaratory relief on _____, 2021 at ____:____.m. This temporary restraining order includes, without limitation: (a) the pursuit of discovery from the Protected Parties or their officers, directors, employees or agents; (b) the enforcement of any discovery order against the Protected Parties; (c) further motions practice related to the foregoing; and (d) any collection activity on account of a Debtor Talc Claim against any Protected Party or its officers, directors, employees or agents or its respective assets.

3. This Order is entered without prejudice to the Debtor's right to request that this Court extend this Order to include other entities or persons not previously identified in Appendix A or Appendix B to the Complaint and the Motion. For the avoidance of doubt, the inclusion of a talc-related claim on Appendix A is not an admission that such Defendant holds a currently pending claim against either the Debtor or the Protected Parties.

4. Any party subject to this Order may seek relief from any of the provisions of this Order for cause shown. This Order is without prejudice to the Debtor's or others' rights to seek relief pursuant to section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code.

5. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Order, any party asserting Debtor Talc Claims, without leave of the Court, may take reasonable steps to perpetuate the testimony of any person subject to this Order who is not expected to survive the duration of this Order or who otherwise is expected to be unable to provide testimony if it is not perpetuated during the duration of this Order. Notice shall be provided to the Debtor by notifying counsel for the Debtor of the perpetuation of such testimony. The Debtor shall have the right to object to the notice on any grounds it would have had if it were a party to the underlying proceeding and not subject to the terms of this preliminary injunction, and the Debtor may raise any such objection with this Court. The use of such testimony in any appropriate jurisdiction shall be subject to the applicable procedural and evidentiary rules of such jurisdiction. All parties reserve and do not waive any and all objections with respect to such testimony. Defendants or other individuals asserting Debtor Talc Claims may not seek to perpetuate the testimony of representatives, including directors, officers, employees and agents, of the Debtor or the Protected Parties without the consent of the Debtor or an order of the Court. Notwithstanding the forgoing, parties in lawsuits pending in the MDL who wish to perpetuate the testimony of any person subject to this Order who is not expected to survive the duration of this Order or who otherwise is expected to be unable to provide testimony if it is not perpetuated during the duration of this Order shall comply with the process outlined in the In Extremis Deposition Protocol entered on January 23, 2017 in the MDL.

6. The automatic stay is hereby lifted to permit the applicable Defendants to proceed with and complete the following appeals, in each of which surety bonds have been issued in connection with the appeal: (a) Leavitt; (b) Olson; (c) Schmitz; (d) Barden; (e) Soskin; (f) Gutierrez; (g) Hayes; and (h) Strobel.

7. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 7065, the Debtor is relieved from posting any security under Civil Rule 65(c).

8. This Order shall be immediately effective and enforceable upon its entry.

9. The Debtor shall cause a copy of this Order to be served via e-mail, facsimile, hand delivery or overnight carrier on counsel for the known Defendants and the Bankruptcy Administrator within three business days of its entry on the Court's docket.

10. This Order shall be promptly filed in the Clerk of Court's office and entered into the record. This Order shall remain effective for the period through and including 28 days after the entry of this Order.

11. This Court retains exclusive jurisdiction over this Order and any and all matters arising from or relating to the implementation, interpretation or enforcement of this Order.

This Order has been signed electronically. United States Bankruptcy Court
